FBI Swarming In Area of Sinatra Kidnap

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The FBI dispatched a dozen men to the San Fernando Valley north of Hollywood during the night, arousing speculation that agents might be on the trail of suspects in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping case.

The FBI acknowledged it had men in the area but wouldn't say what they were doing.

Newsman learned through police that several residents of the area telephoned the West Valley Police Station saying men believed to be FBI agents were checking houses on one street and stopping cars at intersections in the same neighborhood.

Bolivian Miners Retain Hostages

ORURO, Bolivia (AP) — Catholic Church leaders were reported today trying to secure the release of a group of hostages, including four Americans, held by Communist-led tin miners.

A standoff prevailed between government troops and armed miners in the Catavi area where the hostages were held as pawns for two Communist union leaders arrested by President Victor Paz Estenssoro's government. The government still insisted it would not trade the arrested men for the hostages.

Msgr. Andrew Kennedy of St. Louis, Mo., a member of the staff of the Catholic vicar general in La Paz, arrived in Oruro en route to Catavi, 30 miles away.

Informed sources said Msgr. Kennedy had been in contact with representatives of the miners' union and the miners were willing to have him mediate the dispute.

The priest was also said to be carrying a letter to the miners from the two jailed union leaders, Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar. Both have been indicted on charges of sabotaging government mine operations, attempted murder and promoting anarchy.

There was no word of any direct negotiations between the government and the miners for release of the hostages. But tension in the area eased somewhat after a Defense Ministry statement said troops would not move against the defiant miners and President Paz Estenssoro ordered army patrols withdrawn from Catavi.

There were conflicting reports about how many men were being held hostage.

Newsman who visited Catavi Tuesday saw 11 others besides the four Americans — a Dutch mine manager, a German mine superintendent and nine Bolivian technicians.

However, the government mining agency, Comibol, reported there were 19 hostages—the four Americans, the Dutchman, the German, 11 Bolivian technicians and two Bolivian government officials.

Bad Check Case Shunned by Police

ABERAVON, Wales (AP) — Aberavon lacks a Brooklyn Bridge but has an abandoned railroad station. David Thomas, 34, sold it to David Roberts, 36, for $84.

Roberts, a scrap dealer, paid with a bad check.

Thomas was hauled into court Wednesday on a charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

He was found innocent. The magistrates decided he genuinely believed he had bought the station legally from a chance acquaintance for $14.

Police said no action will be taken against Roberts for the bad check because he wasn't buying anything anyway.

Blue Law War Boils

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Sunday closing law war goes on in Southwest Ohio — with five fines reported in Wednesday legal skirmishes.

At nearby Middletown, Roland E. Laurin was fined $25 and costs in Municipal Court on a citizen's warrant sworn out Nov. 17. Attorneys said his conviction was the first in about 18 months.

Municipal Court Judge Gilbert Bettman in Cincinnati fined four defendants court costs of $5 each and said he hoped police would cite more Blue Law violators — such as industrialists whose factories operate on Sunday.

Judge Bettman has criticized the century-old law for years as being unfair and unenforceable. He says the only way the Ohio General Assembly can be driven to act on Blue Laws is if there is enough outcry from irate citizens.

Port Clinton Closure Is Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, says that if the Defense Department refuses to reconsider a decision to close an Army supply center at Port Clinton, Ohio, he will take his fight to the White House.

The Ohio congressman said Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance had promised to hear arguments for retaining the Erie Supply Center although the decision to close it has been made.

Ohio members of Congress protested Wednesday the decision to close the center. They said they were told by Vance that the center would be "phased out" over a three-year period.

The Defense Department reportedly was to announce today a consolidation involving the Port Clinton and other Army supply installations.

Latta said some 2,000 persons are employed at the Port Clinton supply center and Erie proving ground. Closing of the supply center would leave only 264 employees at the proving ground, he said.

Meanwhile, Rep. Samuel L. Devine, R-Ohio, said he had been assured by Vance that the Columbus Construction Supply Center would be retained and not included in the consolidation.

"Erie is engaged in a rebuilding mission for Nike Hercules missiles," Latta said. "The cost of this mission is the lowest of any similar job in the country. Also, the reliability rate at Erie is the highest in the nation. Only one-third of the total force at Erie is engaged in storage. The rest is engaged in rebuilding missiles and the proving ground."

Latta added that a $3 million high school debt, based on the continuance of the depot, has been incurred at Port Clinton, and a $2 million high school has been built at nearby Oak Harbor.

Neither school will be needed if the depot is closed, he said.

3 Bank Thugs Are Jailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal judge has passed sentences totaling a maximum 65 years in the cases of three men accused of bank robbery.

The trio appeared in U.S. District Court Wednesday before Judge Mell G. Underwood.

Two—James Allen Griffin, 26, and James Edward Kennedy, 25—were charged in the Nov. 6 robbery of the Clintonville office of the Ohio National Bank in Columbus. Griffin was sentenced to 25 years and Kennedy to 20.

John Marquette, also known as John Mayo, 49, one of three men believed to be responsible for the $6,000 robbery a week ago of the Frazeyburg office of Zanesville's First National Bank, was sentenced to 20 years also.

Heavy Snow Due In North Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wintry landscape marked the Ohio scene today — 10 days before the official arrival of winter.

The U. S. Weather Bureau issued hazardous driving warnings along with the outlook for heavy snow in Northern Ohio and freezing rain and drizzle causing icy conditions in the southern and central parts of the state.

Up to four inches of snow already covered parts of the state by 1 a. m. Youngstown had four inches at that time and Akron, Dayton, Cleveland and Columbus two inches. More was expected to accumulate by daybreak in the north.

Earlier, the forecast had been for deep accumulation in the rest of the state as well. But instead of continuing past midnight as expected, snow let up in most sectors and the Weather Bureau said it apparently was about finished for the night.

In its stead, though, the bureau predicted glazing of wires and trees and slippery roads and streets in the freezing rain likely to prevail.

A vast snow storm spread a blanket of white across wide areas in the northern half of the nation today from the Rockies into the Northeast.

Subzero cold added misery to the pre-winter storm in many parts of the Midwest. No immediate general break in the wintry weather was indicated in the snow-covered North Central region and heavy snow headed into Northeast sections. Blizzard conditions were indicated in the Dakotas, Minnesota and parts of eastern Montana.

The storm, striking 10 days before the start of the winter season, swept eastward from the midlands. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings were issued for northeastern New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and northern New England, with amounts ranging up to a half-foot.

The current storm, which developed in the southern Rockies, was blamed for at least 11 traffic deaths, including four in Oklahoma which was hit hard by heavy snow and gusty winds. Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Illinois and two in Iowa.

The subzero belt covered areas in the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota, with 11 below in Sioux Falls, S.D. The mercury ranged from zero to 10 above in parts of northern New England. There

Lancaster Glass Firms Picketed

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Picketers appeared again today at two plants of the Anchor-Hocking Glass Co., struck Wednesday by the American Flint Glass Workers Union following a breakdown in prolonged contract negotiations in Pittsburgh.

Some 3,000 union employees are affected by the walkout which came after 66 bargaining sessions within the past 55 days. In a statement released Wednesday, the company indicated the main stumbling block to a settlement involved union demands for a voice in decisions to change working conditions.

Anchor-Hocking officials said that on Nov. 22, they offered a wage, insurance, and pension package that would have cost an average of 21.3 cents an hour, "an offer that compares with recent settlements of this union ranging from 6 cents to 15.2 cents an hour with tableware companies that compete with Anchor-Hocking."

Union officials were not immediately available for comment. They reportedly were returning here last night from Pittsburgh.

26 in U.S. Are Affected

7 Overseas Units Also on List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that, in an economy action, he had ordered 26 military bases in the United States and 7 bases overseas to be closed or substantially reduced.

McNamara told a news conference, "I have every reason to believe that studies now under way will lead to further reductions in the coming months."

The defense secretary said that, when the 33 bases are closed or reduced over a period of up to 3½ years, he expects annual savings of $106 million.

The move will cut off 8,600 civilian jobs and result in a reduction of about 7,800 military personnel, McNamara said.

Every civilian employee whose job is eliminated will be offered another job opportunity, McNamara promised.

To achieve the 8,500 reduction while offering new jobs to the dispossessed, McNamara said there will be a freeze on hiring at certain other installations, as well as normal attrition.

The 26 domestic bases to be closed or reduced are located in 14 states, and the 7 overseas bases are in three foreign countries.

Included are 14 Army installations, 12 Air Force, and 7 Navy.

The hardest hit state was New York, which will lose 7 bases, California loses 4 bases, and Texas, President Johnson's home state, Louisiana and Alabama each lose 2.

Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Ohio also are affected with one base each.

Only one Ohio installation was affected. The Supply and Maintenance Mission at Erie Depot, Port Clinton, will be discontinued and relocated at other Army depots by December 1966. Test and proof firing activities will be retained.

McNamara said the overseas installations will not be announced until a later date, so that the United States can discuss the prospective actions with the foreign governments concerned. He did not identify

Johnson Cautions Aides on Spending

Winding up another busy day in which he again put heavy emphasis on economy in government, Johnson called in his Cabinet Wednesday to talk over a variety of matters.

These included, in addition to the federal payroll, the health of the nation's economy, unemployment and methods for dealing with it and an evaluation of the strategic nuclear forces of the United States and the Soviet Union by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Police found the missing wagon on several hours later Wednesday.

FBI Swarming In Area of Sinatra Kidnap

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The FBI dispatched a dozen men to the San Fernando Valley north of Hollywood during the night, arousing speculation that agents might be on the trail of suspects in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnaping case.

The FBI acknowledged it had men in the area but wouldn't say what they were doing.

Newsman learned through police that several residents of the area telephoned the West Valley Police Station, saying men believed to be FBI agents were checking houses on one street and stopping cars at intersections in the same neighborhood.

Officer Gene Radomski of the Los Angeles police department said it was "strictly an FBI operation." He said police hadn't been told the nature of the FBI activity but assumed it was connected with the Sinatra case.

Wednesday, after Sinatra Jr. was returned to his family for $240,000 ransom, Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker complained his department was left completely in the dark on developments in the case.

"This is the first time in my memory that we have been faced with probable criminal activity in the city of Los Angeles and have been unable to respond," Parker said at a news conference. "We have always worked as a team with law enforcement agencies."

Parker said he didn't want to interfere with the FBI. "I'm sure they had adequate reason for not bringing us in," he said. "I am just pointing out our position. I am concerned with the criticism we may ultimately receive in a case which we have been deprived of any opportunity to solve."

Sinatra Jr., a slender, 19-year-old who has followed his father's footsteps by undertaking a singing career, was abducted by two armed men and taken from his motel room at a Lake Tahoe resort on the California-Nevada border. He had a singing engagement at a casino there.

Fifty-four hours later, after his father arranged to have $240,000 planted at a pickup point in West Los Angeles, Sinatra Jr. was released on a free-way about two miles from his mother's home in the Bel-Air section of Los Angeles.

The youth told newsmen later he was kept blindfolded during his captivity but "wasn't harmed at all."

He said he cannot discuss details of the abduction until the FBI finishes questioning him.

The priest was also said to be carrying a letter to the miners from the two jailed union leaders, Irineo Pimentel and Federico Escobar. Both have been indicted on charges of sabotaging government mine operations, attempted murder and promoting anarchy.

There was no word of any direct negotiations between the government and the miners for release of the hostages. Warren Countian's Death Is Probed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A Warren County man died Thursday of head injuries and his wife was being held for questioning.

Sheriff Byron Kennard said Ivel Herschel, 46, who lived in the Twin Valley subdivision south of Carlisle, died in Middle-town Hospital.

Deputies said when they arrived at the Robinson home, the victim had been taken by ambulance to the hospital.

Kennard said Robinson had suffered head cuts, but the exact cause of death was not immediately known. The victim's wife, Inez, was being questioned at the county jail.

Warren Plans Full Load Of Court Work, Probing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren, keen-eyed and vigorous at 72, will shoulder his full load of Supreme Court duties while heading the presidential inquiry into President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

There is now law or court rule which says a Supreme Court justice may not participate in a case in which he has prior knowledge or interest. It is up to the conscience of each justice. Warren's conscience, like the justice himself, works overtime.

That is just an assumption, since Warren has uttered not a word publicly on his plans. But his associates and friends claim they know Warren's views quite well enough to predict his course.

He is resolved to absorb his extra load as chairman of the bipartisan presidential commission by working nights and weekends, taking advantage of holidays and court recesses, and possibly giving up all or part of his usual three-week Christmas trip home to California.

There may be one case, far ahead, which Warren will avoid. If the Supreme Court ever entertains an appeal from a Texas murder case involving Jack Ruby, the court's opinion is sure to carry a notation at the bottom reading:

The storm, striking 10 days before the start of the winter season, swept eastward from the midlands. Heavy snow and hazardous driving warnings were issued for northeastern New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and northern New England, with amounts ranging up to a half-foot.

The current storm, which developed in the southern Rockies, was blamed for at least 11 traffic deaths, including four in Oklahoma which was hit hard by heavy snow and gusty winds. Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Illinois and two in Iowa.

The subzero belt covered areas in the Dakotas, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota, with 11 below in Sioux Falls, S.D. The mercury ranged from zero to 10 above in parts of northern New England. There was some warming in parts of the eastern Rockies.

Snow depths ranged from 5 to 10 inches in the northern Midwest and 4 to 8 inches in the Great Lakes region.

Unseasonably cold weather was reported in most of the South Central section. Temperatures were near seasonal levels in the Far West with generally clear skies.

Information gathered on the shady operation discloses that the swindlers will bring a package to a house where they know the occupant is not at home. Their next step is to go to a neighbor's house and ask these persons to pay the COD charge and then give the package to the addressee when they come home.

The catch is that when the packages are opened they are empty. . . . Better Business Bureau officials say several unsuspecting neighbors have been taken in by the hoax.

WHEN BAD weather and treacherous road conditions strike Pickaway County, there seems to be a pronounced reduction in the number of motorists cited into Municipal Court for exceeding the speed limit.

The first big snow of the season may produce a rash of accidents, according to Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis of the local patrol post, but drivers quickly adapt themselves to hazardous conditions. . . . And speeding motorists then become what lawmen like to term "normal drivers."

CITY, COUNTY and state highway departments got their first real workout of the winter season last night in snow and ice removal. . . . Workers were kept busy during the early evening as a heavy snow began falling. . . .

However, the predicted accumulation of 3-5 inches turned out to be a false alarm. . . . But gave all departments a "warm-up" for what inevitably lies ahead. . . . The official snow measure here was 1 1/2 inches.

Cops Seek Burglar; He Steals Their Car

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — While Patrolmen James Curley and James Harkins were looking for a burglar in a pharmacy, the burglar was apparently outside looking for transportation.

He found it — Curley's and a Harkins' patrol wagon. He used a wire to work the ignition and drove away while the policemen were inside looking for the cause of a jangling burglar alarm.

Police found the missing wagon on several hours later Wednesday.

26 in U.S. Are Affected

7 Overseas Units Also on List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced today that, in an economy action, he had ordered 26 military bases in the United States and 7 bases overseas to be closed or substantially reduced.

McNamara told a news conference, "I have every reason to believe that studies now under way will lead to further reductions in the coming months."

The defense secretary said that, when the 33 bases are closed or reduced over a period of up to 3 1/2 years, he expects annual savings of $106 million.

The move will cut off 8,600 civilian jobs and result in a reduction of about 7,800 military personnel, McNamara said.

Every civilian employee whose job is eliminated will be offered another job opportunity, McNamara promised.

To achieve the 8,500 reduction while offering new jobs to the displaced, McNamara said there will be a freeze on hiring at certain other installations, as well as normal attrition.

The 26 domestic bases to be closed or reduced are located in 14 states, and the 7 overseas bases are in three foreign countries.

Included are 14 Army installations, 12 Air Force, and 7 Navy.

The hardest hit state was New York, which will lose 7 bases, California loses 4 bases, and Texas, President Johnson's home state, Louisiana and Alabama each lose 2.

Arizona, Arkansas, Georgia, Illinois, Mississippi, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina and Ohio also are affected with one base each.

Only one Ohio installation was affected. The Supply and Maintenance Mission at Erie Depot, Port Clinton, will be discontinued and relocated at other Army depots by December 1966. Test and proof firing activities will be retained.

McNamara said the overseas installations will not be announced until a later date, so that the United States can discuss the prospective actions with the foreign governments concerned. He did not identify

Johnson Cautions Aides on Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has put members of his Cabinet on notice that he expects them to give their personal attention to his campaign to hold down federal spending.

Winding up another busy day in which he again put heavy emphasis on economy in government, Johnson called in his Cabinet Wednesday to talk over a variety of matters.

These included, in addition to the federal payroll, the health of the nation's economy, unemployment and methods for dealing with it and an evaluation of the "strategic nuclear forces of the United States and the Soviet Union by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Santa Claus Returns Woman's Lost Wallet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — When Mrs. Caroline Cogburn answered the telephone today, Santa Claus was on the line.

He had found her wallet and the $43 she had saved to buy gifts for her five youngsters.

An hour later Walter Cooley, 19, showed up with the money. He explained he had spotted the wallet in a shopping center parking lot, where he is working as Santa Claus.

Cooley refused a reward.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than $219 million in tax revenues went into Ohio's general revenue fund in the first five months of the current fiscal year, an increase of more than $50 million over the same period last year, State Auditor Roger W. Tracy reported today.

He said that after making adjustment for the early collection of more than $35 million in utility taxes under provisions of the newly enacted law, there was a net increase of $15,594,876 over last year.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—William L. White of Mount Vernon has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large in the May 5 primary election.

White was candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1962. He said he would carry on an active campaign for congressman-at-large nomination, and at the same time is giving his support to the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Walter H. Nichols, 49, convicted by a jury Wednesday of second-degree murder in the hammer-slaying of his common-law wife, Bertha Lee McClain, 40, has been sentenced to a life term in Ohio Penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall.

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Susan Jane Creech has testified that the man she is charged with killing had beaten her several times.

The 21-year-old woman, on trial for first-degree murder in the death of Robert Lee Grimes, 22, took the stand in her own defense Wednesday.

She is accused of shooting Grimes Sept. 14 near Convey, west of here. One of the beatings inflicted by Grimes resulted in a miscarriage, she testified.

The slaying came shortly after the couple had moved from Fort Wayne, Ind. Mrs. Creech testified she has been divorced from Daryl Creech, a marine, since July 8. Officials said she lived with Grimes in a common-law relationship.

ASHLAND, Ore. (AP)—Steve Barnett, an Ashland High School student, lost his pet decorated skunk several weeks ago.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A 22-year-old Buddhist monk burned himself to death on the grounds of a religious pagoda in coastal Binh Dinh Province Monday, the official Viet Nam Presse reported today.

The report said the suicide was an "oblation," an offering for religious or charitable purposes. It did not explain further.

Viet Nam Presse said the monk, whose name was not given, poured gasoline over his robes and set them afire.

It was the 11th suicide by fire in South Viet Nam this year. Seven were in protest against President Ngo Dinh Diem's treatment of Buddhist opponents.

PANGIM, India (AP)—A party advocating the merger of Goa, Damao and Diu with neighboring Maharashtra State has handed Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party a humiliating defeat in the first free elections held in the former Portuguese enclaves.

Complete returns from Monday's elections gave the Congress party only one seat in the enclaves' 30-seat legislative assembly. The Maharashtra Gomantak party won 14 seats.

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Dr. Linus C. Pauling, America's 1962 Nobel Peace Prize winner, suggested Wednesday night that the United Nations share control of all nuclear weapons to decrease the possibility of war.

The controversial scientist from Pasadena, Calif., made his proposal in his Nobel lecture at the Nobel Institute. Pauling received his peace prize Tuesday for his long fight against nuclear arms.

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Thomas Kraft, a former sergeant in the Nazi SS elite guard, was sentenced Wednesday to 12 years in prison for the murder of four Austrians on V-E Day.

Post Office Holiday Hours Announced

Local Post Office hours for the pre-Christmas holiday season were announced today by Postmaster Charles Walters.

Postmaster Walters said on Dec. 14 and Dec. 21 windows will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. From Dec. 16 through the 20th and on Dec. 23 and 24 they will be open from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m.

In reviewing the local Christmas mail picture, Walters remarked that persons sending greeting cards today at the five-cent first class rate pay the same postage as Americans did more than a century ago. Records show that in 1847 the Post Office Department issued its first stamps, including one for a nickel for the basic pre-paid letter rate.

The postmaster noted that the cost of mailing a first class letter has increased only two cents since 1932, while the cost of living has skyrocketed considerably since that time.

WALTERS' comments were made in connection with a recommendation to use the first class five-cent Christmas stamp on greeting cards. The stamp portrays the National Christmas Tree in Washington D. C. It is available at the local Post Office.

According to postal regulations, the five-cent rate permits forwarding or return where necessary, allows a handwritten message on the card and provides speedier handling and faster delivery, especially for cards going out of the city.

As another suggestion — to avoid delay and waiting in line — Postmaster Walters recommended that full sheets of stamps (100 to a sheet) be picked up early at the Post Office. By doing this, he said, there is no last minute panic in getting cards mailed to persons previously overlooked.

The Christmas stamps are usable as postage at any time, not just during the Yule season.

Lorain Bakery Levelled by Fire

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Damage was estimated variously at between $100,000 and $250,000 from a fire at the main plant of the Central Bakery, Inc., in which two firemen were hurt.

More than 40 firemen battled the blaze Wednesday. The flames were fed by hundreds of pounds of shortening, paper containers and sugar.

Two main buildings were involved—a two-story brick building and an adjacent two-story frame structure that housed a retail outlet and office. Only the walls were left standing.

Thirty employees fled safely.

Cambodian Aide Recalled In U.S. Fuss

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, said today Cambodia has recalled its ambassador to Washington following a protest registered by the U.S. government.

The protest concerned a reported communique of the Cambodian government which the United States charged expressed satisfaction at the death of President Kennedy along with the deaths of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and Thuanat Prender Sarit Thanarat. The Cambodian government denied any reference had been made to President Kennedy.

The State Department in Washington declined immediate comment on the situation. It was known, however, that a broadcast of the government statement in question produced shock when U.S. monitors first heard it. An immediate inquiry was launched.

Sihanouk said in a speech in the province of Takeo that his ambassador was being recalled following what he termed the protests and threats U.S. Ambassador Philip Sproule made to the Cambodian government. The government press service said actually Cambodia observed three days of national mourning for the assassinated U.S. President, and Premier Prince Norodom Kantol was sent to Washington to represent the government at Kennedy's funeral.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than $219 million in tax revenues went into Ohio's general revenue fund in the first five months of the current fiscal year, an increase of more than $50 million over the same period last year, State Auditor Roger W. Tracy reported today.

He said that after making adjustment for the early collection of more than $35 million in utility taxes under provisions of the newly enacted law, there was a net increase of $15,594,876 over last year.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — William L. White of Mount Vernon has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large in the May 5 primary election.

White was candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1962. He said he would carry on an active campaign for congressman-at-large nomination, and at the same time is giving his support to the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater for president.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Walter H. Nichols, 49, convicted by a jury Wednesday of second-degree murder in the hammer-slaying of his common-law wife, Bertha Lee McClain, 40, has been sentenced to a life term in Ohio Penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge George B. Marshall.

VAN WERT, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Susan Jane Creech has testified that the man she is charged with killing had beaten her several times.

The 21-year-old woman, on trial for first-degree murder in the death of Robert Lee Grimes, 22, took the stand in her own defense Wednesday.

She is accused of shooting Grimes Sept. 14 near Convoy, west of here. One of the beatings inflicted by Grimes resulted in a miscarriage, she testified.

The slaying came shortly after the couple had moved from Fort Wayne, Ind. Mrs. Creech testified she has been divorced from Daryl Creech, a marine, since July 8. Officials said she lived with Grimes in a common-law relationship.

ASHLAND, Ore. (AP)—Steve Barnett, an Ashland High School student, lost his pet odorized skunk several weeks ago.

This week a neighbor called him and said the animal was in her yard. Steve went to bring his pet home and discovered too late it was not his skunk.

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan dug out of its biggest snowfall of the season today, a cripple that caused highway deaths and stopped shipping.

The storm blew in Thursday night, dumping 2 to 5 inches of snow across the state.

In the Upper Peninsula the snow piled up in drifts of 2 to 3 feet, road patrols said.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Nearly 100,000 Africans whistled and cheered today as Kenya became Africa's 35th independent nation.

When the Union Jack was hauled down and Kenya's flag of black, red and green went up amid wild jubilation at Nairobi's Freedom Stadium, Britain relinquished its last colonial holding in East Africa.

The wives of white settlers wept and their husbands swallowed hard as they considered their future as a minority of 50,000 in a nation of 8.5 million Africans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson will serve as honorary chairman of the National Red Cross, continuing a tradition started by President Woodrow Wilson in 1913. The White House announced Johnson's acceptance of the post Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Attorney James B. Donovan, who obtained the release of prisoners captured in Cuba in the Bay of Pigs invasion, was unanimously elected president of the New York City Board of education Wednesday night.

He succeeds Max J. Rubin, who resigned last month for reasons of health. Donovan, 47, was vice president of the board.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—At a Vatican audience for pilgrims from many lands, Pope Paul VI has urged Catholics to prepare for Christmas with prayer.

"Pray," the Pope said Wednesday. "Pray well...this advice, which is always valid, is even more appropriate now when we are preparing for Christmas."

NEW YORK (AP) — After a five-year absence, Helen Hayes is returning to Broadway to star in "The White House Story," a drama about presidential families.

A. E. Hotchner's script relates what are described as non-political episodes beginning with George Washington and ending with the Theodore Roosevelt family. The production, announced Wednesday, is scheduled for a May 13 premiere.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A 22-year-old Buddhist monk burned himself to death on the grounds of a religious pagoda in coastal Binh Dinh Province Monday, the official Viet Nam Presse reported today.

The report said the suicide was an "oblation," an offering for religious or charitable purposes. It did not explain further.

Viet Nam Presse said the monk, whose name was not given, poured gasoline over his robes and set them afire.

It was the 11th suicide by fire in South Viet Nam this year. Seven were in protest against President Ngo Dinh Diem's treatment of Buddhist opponents.

PANGIM, India (AP) — A party advocating the merger of Goa, Damao and Diu with neighboring Maharashtra State has handed Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party a humiliating defeat in the first free elections held in the former Portuguese enclaves.

Complete returns from Monday's elections gave the Congress party only one seat in the enclaves' 30-seat legislative assembly. The Maharashtra Gomantak party won 14 seats.

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Dr. Linus C. Pauling, America's 1962 Nobel Peace Prize winner, suggested Wednesday night that the United Nations share control of all nuclear weapons to decrease the possibility of war.

The controversial scientist from Pasadena, Calif., made his proposal in his Nobel lecture at the Nobel Institute. Pauling received his peace prize Tuesday for his long fight against nuclear arms.

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Thomas Krafft, a former sergeant in the Nazi SS elite guard, was sentenced Wednesday to 12 years in prison for the murder of four Austrians on V-E Day.

Krafft, 43, went into hiding in 1960 when he learned that police were on his tracks. Last year, he got drunk at a Munich inn and mistook a police prowl car for his own automobile. When he tried to drive off, he was arrested.

Post Office Holiday Hours Announced

Local Post Office hours for the pre-Christmas holiday season were announced today by Postmaster Charles Walters.

Postmaster Walters said on Dec. 14 and Dec. 21 windows will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. From Dec. 16 through the 20th and on Dec. 23 and 24 they will be open from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m.

In reviewing the local Christmas mail picture, Walters remarked that persons sending greeting cards today at the five-cent first class rate pay the same postage as Americans did more than a century ago. Records show that in 1847 the Post Office Department issued its first stamps, including one for a nickel for the basic prepaid letter rate.

The postmaster noted that the cost of mailing a first class letter has increased only two cents since 1932, while the cost of living has skyrocketed considerably since that time.

WALTERS' comments were made in connection with a recommendation to use the first class five-cent Christmas stamp on greeting cards. The stamp portrays the National Christmas Tree in Washington, D. C. It is available at the local Post Office.

According to postal regulations, the five-cent rate permits forwarding or return where necessary, allows a handwritten message on the card and provides speedier handling and faster delivery, especially for cards going out of the city.

As another suggestion — to avoid delay and waiting in line — Postmaster Walters recommended that full sheets of stamps (100 to a sheet) be picked up early at the Post Office. By doing this, he said, there is no last minute panic in getting cards mailed to persons previously overlooked.

The Christmas stamps are usable as postage at any time, not just during the Yule season.

Lorain Bakery Levelled by Fire

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)— Damage was estimated variously at between $100,000 and $250,000 from a fire at the main plant of the Central Bakery, Inc., in which two firemen were hurt.

More than 40 firemen battled the blaze Wednesday. The flames were fed by hundreds of pounds of shortening, paper containers and sugar.

Two main buildings were involved—a two-story brick building and an adjacent two-story frame structure that housed a retail outlet and office. Only the walls were left standing.

Thirty employees fled safely.

Cambodian Aide Recalled In U.S. Fuss

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said today Cambodia has recalled its ambassador to Washington following a protest registered by the U.S. government.

The protest concerned a reported communique of the Cambodian government which the United States charged expressed satisfaction at the death of President Kennedy along with the deaths of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and Thuanat Premier Sarit Thanarat. The Cambodian government denied any reference had been made to President Kennedy.

The State Department in Washington declined immediate comment on the situation. It was known, however, that a broadcast of the government statement in question produced shock when U.S. monitors first heard it. An immediate inquiry was launched.

Sihanouk said in a speech in the province of Takeo that his ambassador was being recalled following what he termed the protests and threats U.S. Ambassador Philip Sproule made to the Cambodian government.

The government press service said actually Cambodia observed three days of national mourning for the assassinated U.S. President, and Premier Prince Norodom Kantol was sent to Washington to represent the government at Kennedy's funeral.

Spellman To Visit Gls at South Pole

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York, is going to the South Pole this Christmas.

The U.S. Navy's antarctic support force announced today that the cardinal will celebrate midnight Mass Christmas Eve at the Amundsen - Scott South Pole station. Then he will return to the American antarctic expedition's main base at McMurdo Sound for Christmas afternoon services.

After the McMurdo services he will fly to Byrd station, 800 miles from McMurdo. Because he will cross the International Dateline, he will spend another Christmas Day there.

For 13 years, Joan Keeler has been jousting with a formidable antagonist.

Sometimes this attractive young woman, who lives and follows her profession of occupational therapy in Summit, N. J., makes some headway and seems to be winning. Then in a counteroffensive, her old foe will deliver a succession of cruel blows.

The old foe, the formidable antagonist, is rheumatoid arthritis. Arthritis tortures, cripples and deforms more people in the United States than any other disorder.

Emphasizing that she neither wants nor needs anyone's sympathy, Joan agreed to tell something about her encounters with this excruciating disease since her teens. She spoke during one of her monthly visits to the March of Dimes-financed Arthritis Center at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, New York City.

At the age of 17, Joan could look forward to what should be a reasonably happy life. She was attractive, athletic and a good student.

Then without warning, Joan says, "the roof of my little dream house caved in."

First, there were unaccountable pains during the summer just before college and that meant the end of athletics because pain wracked her body. Next, fever and loss of weight. Diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis, never simple to make, was even more difficult 13 years ago. Specialists shook their heads in puzzlement over which disease had robbed this young woman of perfect health.

Despite the increasing severity of the pain, Joan was determined to start college. The first, almost insurmountable problem was getting from dormitory to classroom. The next difficulty was concentration. How can a student apply herself closely to lectures and homework when she suffers incessant spasms of pain in her back, arm and hands, legs and even her toes?

"It became a fiasco," she says. "The plain fact was I couldn't keep up. I had to drop out." Then during the following summer, Joan's old foe seemed to relent. She improved and returned to school.

But the rheumatoid arthritis returned to the attack — more savagely than it had before.

The second homecoming from college was no less discouraging than the first. But it did result in her applying to the Arthritis Clinic of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, which had been studying the problem of rheumatoid arthritis since 1928, and to which The National Foundation — March of Dimes has contributed $105,106 since 1959.

After exhaustive tests, the upshot was a definite diagnosis of rheumatoid arthritis. Now at last, the enemy was identified.

The first urgent objective was to reduce Joan's pain so that she could be moved, and move herself, without undurable suffering. This was accomplished in part through administration of cortisone (which she continues to take but in reduced dosages). A second goal was, by means of surgery, to "unclench" her hands so that she could regain the use of her fingers. A third aim was to minimize the weight-bearing pressure on her feet by designing special moccasins.

The fourth aim was to begin physical therapy as soon as cortisone had reduced the inflammation of joints and connective tissues to a point where rehabilitative exercise was possible.

"The simple truth is that the March of Dimes put me on my feet," she explains. This feeling of thankfulness set her

Middletown Land Suit Is Dismissed

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — A lawsuit trying to bar Middletown from annexing 1,883 acres at that city's southern edge has been dismissed by Common Pleas Court Judge Arthur J. Fiehrer.

Judge Fiehrer threw out the suit of Charles Fullen and Autie Howard Wednesday, saying that neither man owned property or lived in the affected area.

The Dominican Republic was ruled by dictator Rafael L. Trujillo Molina from 1930 to 1961, when he was slain by assassins.

to thinking of doing something within her capabilities which would also be helpful to others.

She had had intimate experience, during her own ordeal with many kinds of therapy. Armed with this familiarity, she began to study occupational therapy which is the teaching of arts and trades as a means of rehabilitation of patients handicapped physically or mentally.

"I was lucky to get a position as an occupational therapist at Fair Oaks Hospital in my home town," Joan relates. "I soon learned that I understood the attitudes of these patients toward life — their fears and hostilities — and that they understood my attitude, because all of us had experienced what it is to be handicapped. And I am better adjusted and happier than I was because I am helping others."

Perhaps the old foe, the formidable antagonist, has not been altogether vanquished. But by helping others, Joan Keeler has found that at least she now keeps her enemy on the defensive, most of the time.

Joan Keeler (left), after long and painful joust with rheumatoid arthritis, now teaches others who are handicapped. Above, she's instructing in the use of sewing machine.

Dem Congressman To Face Opposition

Actor's Honesty Impressive

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The honesty of Tom Tryon, who may be Hollywood's next big star, is as impressive as his acting ability. A year ago Tom, who is 6 feet 4, dark and handsome, was a good journeyman actor well-known to movie and television producers, but comparatively unknown to the public. Then Otto Preminger picked him over 20 other candidates for one of the best roles on the movie horizon for some time. The title role is in "The Cardinal."

Although fascinated by the ritual of the Catholic Church, Tryon said his experience in portraying "The Cardinal" had not made him any more religious. "I'm in no sense a convert," he said frankly. "But after President Kennedy's death — I don't usually go to church too often — I felt the need of being in one, and I went into a Catholic church, and I lit a candle for him."

Preminger, who has always had a canny eye for a promising newcomer, gave him the biggest break of his career. "Television gives you the chance to learn to act in front of 10 million people," Tryon said. "But the trouble with it is that the industry has become too imitative. As soon as anyone comes up with a bright new idea, everyone else rushes in and tries to copy it."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Rising prices and heavy trading in recent days and weeks have increased public interest in the stock market. More persons are getting into it, either by actually buying shares, or vicariously by talking about the goings on. Yet a lot of the terms used are vague to many a market watcher. Here are simplified explanations of a few of the common ones you run into most.

turned in for common stock of the company. Dollar averaging — Investing fixed sums at regular intervals in a given stock regardless of price changes. Growth stock — Share in a company thought likely to make above average gains in earnings and net worth over a long period. Margin account — The account of a trader who operates partly on money borrowed from his broker, currently set legally at no more than 30 per cent of price of the stock. Margin call — Demand on trader to put up more cash or securities with the broker when skidding prices mean that customer's equity in stock falls below or dangerously near the legal minimum or below standard set by the stock exchange or by the brokerage firm. Round lot — Unit of trading on the exchanges, which is usually 100 shares, except for a few high priced or inactive issues. Odd lot — Amount of stock bought or sold in less than the established round lot unit of 100 shares for most issues. Odd lot trading is popularly supposed to be the badge of the small investor. Short sale — Borrowing stock to sell at the market price in expectation of buying back at lower price later for profit. If price goes up, stock still must be bought some time for replacement, at a loss to the trader. Over the counter — Market maintained by security dealers for stocks usually unlisted on the exchanges.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO
The Circleville Post Office announced that the heavy Christmas mail rush had begun.

Dougherty Appliances, W. Main St., distributors of Lindsey Water Softeners, announced they had added a complete line of Norge and Coleman appliances.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bennett, near Tarlton, observed their 50th wedding anniversary in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Drummond, near Clarksburg.

TEN YEARS AGO
Members of Co. I of the 166th Regimental Combat Team, Ohio National Guard, were selling Christmas trees for $1 each, regardless of size, to raise funds for toys and food for Circleville's needy families.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanley,

Route 3, announced the engagement of their daughter, Rose Mary, to Mr. William Plum Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Plum, Ashville.

Circleville Kiwanis Club members and wives attended a special Christmas Party at the Mecca Restaurant.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Mrs. Frank N. Pond and daughter, Bayside, L. I., arrived to visit during Christmas with her mother, Mrs. C. D. Closson, N. Pickaway St.

Miss Eleanor Pearce, W. Corwin St., returned from a three-week visit with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rupert and family, Richmond Dale.

Mrs. Barbara Davis, W. Franklin St., entertained at a dinner honoring her daughter, Marjorie, on her fourth birthday.

That eminent composer and band leader, Duke Ellington, who understandably is not displeased when disciples refer to him as "The American Bach," often quotes that same Bach in his casual conversation. Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Both of my children have blepharitis. In school the teacher said that the condition is due to poor hygiene. My doctor says it is an infection of the eyelids. What causes blepharitis? Can it affect the sight?

Mrs. I. M., Texas
Dear Mrs. M.: Blepharitis is an inflammation or an infection of the margin of the eyelids. It is commonly caused by the streptococcus or staphylococcus bacteria.

Poor hygiene can be a very important factor in its production. Rubbing the eyes with dirty hands during play activity is frequently a cause. There may be an underlying allergy that makes one child more susceptible to infection than another. Itching, redness, and crusting of the lids are typical of blepharitis. The scaling and secretion are created by the infection.

Eyesight is usually not affected by blepharitis. Undoubtedly, your doctor is actively treating the children with antibiotic ointment and with a supervised program of hot compresses. It is very important that you carefully follow your doctor's suggestions for treatment.

The school teacher's suggestion that the blepharitis is due to "poor hygiene" was not meant to reflect on the care you give your children. Rather does it highlight the protective observations of a dedicated custodian of the health and education of your children.

Whenever I wear a wide silver bracelet, the skin becomes dark beneath. My husband bought me a gold one and this, too, makes the skin dark. Is this a sign of danger? What can be done about it?

Mrs. E. T., Michigan
Dear Mrs. T.: This question was recently answered in detail by Dr. Ross D. Bright, a specialist, of Palo Alto, Calif. His explanation of this condition appeared in the "Journal of the American Medical Association."

He said: "The development of dark stains beneath jewelry is not an uncommon phenomenon. Most good jewelry consists of a precious metal such as gold, silver or platinum alloyed with base elements, including zinc, nickel and copper."

"The jewelry contacts sulfhydryl groups which are found in the surface of the skin and which, according to some authors, are also excreted in the sweat."

"The reaction, which is similar to the tarnishing of silver, occurs between the sulfhydryl groups and the metals, causing the formation of sulfide compounds. These compounds are of a dark color and account for the stain."

"Sweat delivered beneath the jewelry is retained and the maceration enhances the reaction."

"The stain that forms on the skin surface is easily washed away. This reaction is unrelated to allergic sensitization to the jewelry. The phenomenon is unrelated to diet."

"Treatment consists of coating the jewelry with a product such as clear lacquer to prevent its contact with the skin, or in refraining from the use of jewelry."

Tax Cut and New Jobs

By John Chamberlain

Lyndon Johnson has called for the creation of five million new jobs, and has taken the inflationary era. A million of these moonlighters are self-employed in their second jobs. Others have professional skills that make their employment a "must" for those who pay them their second salaries. It is obvious that no law could be framed in a free country to prevent the three million moonlighters from exercising their God-given rights to the fruits of personal initiatives.

Next come the 15 million wage and salary workers with one job each that carries with it considerable overtime. Four million of these are professional and managerial men and women, and their extra work cannot in the nature of things be parcelled out among those without professional training, as the Chase Bank economists say. "It's the old story: our skill requirements have outstripped our educational attainments."

The 11 million non-professional overtime workers who might be forced, by company pressure, to share their work with the unemployed are not likely to be touched. For it is the interest of an employer to pay his existing workers overtime rather than to take on new people who will have to be provided with fringe benefits and Social Security checks. Moreover many unions frown on spreading the work. The incentive to join a labor union is to place one's self in a favored position for getting all the work and money that one can.

It is not to be argued, of course, that new investment created by money saved on tax cuts will fail to produce extra jobs. But insofar as those new jobs require skills, they will be a temptation to further overtime and more moonlighting. There is no way of getting around this as long as the five million unemployed remain largely unemployable in an advanced and increasingly automated economic system. This is not to say that a tax cut is to be deplored. It could add health to the present economic system by stretching it to capacity and by giving moonlighters and overtime workers even more purchasing power. It could serve as a cushion against a future downturn, but the problem, as the Chase economists see it, remains one of education if the currently employed are to be put to work.

NEW YORK (AP)—The honesty of Tom Tryon, who may be Hollywood's next big star, is as impressive as his acting ability.

A year ago Tom, who is 6 feet 4, dark and handsome, was a good journeyman actor well-known to movie and television producers, but comparatively unknown to the public.

Then Otto Preminger picked him over 20 other candidates for one of the best roles on the movie horizon for some time.

The title role is in "The Cardinal."

After viewing some of the early scenes, Preminger signed Tryon, who looks much like Bishop Sheen and Sir Laurence Olivier, for five more films.

Tom is neither Irish nor Catholic. He is of Dutch-English descent, and as a youth in Hartford, Conn., attended a typical New England Congregational church — "You know, big, white steeple, white pillars, and hard seats."

Although fascinated by the ritual of the Catholic Church, Tryon said his experience in portraying "The Cardinal" had not made him any more religious.

"I'm in no sense a convert," he said frankly. "But after President Kennedy's death — I don't usually go to church too often — I felt the need of being in one, and I went into a Catholic church, and I lit a candle for him."

"I felt at home there," he said.

Tom, who studied painting at Yale University, spent three years in the Navy. He didn't decide to become an actor until after he had tried a few walk-on parts in a summer stock company and performed such other theatrical chores as holding up television cue cards.

After an apprenticeship on Broadway, Tom worked in about 10 films and more than a hundred television shows before

Preminger, who has always had a canny eye for a promising newcomer, gave him the biggest break of his career.

"Television gives you the chance to learn to act in front of 10 million people," Tryon said. "But the trouble with it is that the industry has become too imitative. As soon as anyone comes up with a bright new idea, everyone else rushes in and tries to copy it."

"Now it is just rubberstamping sausages."

Tom said that one of the funniest things about his recent fame came when a fan magazine writer asked him to name "all the disasters in your life, such as whether your mother ever fell down the stairs, and things like that."

When Tryon couldn't think of any, he said the writer finally asked him in desperation:

"Well, didn't you at least have acne when you were a kid?"

Tax Cut and New Jobs

Lyndon Johnson has called for the creation of five million new jobs, and has taken the position that the proposed tax cut will do a good deal to conjure up a big surge in employment. Connecticut Junior Democratic Senator, Abe Ribicoff, has, on the other hand, doubted that tax cutting can result in the sort of investment that will put unskilled men to work in any significant numbers.

While this column would like to accept President Johnson's line of argument, the present trends in patterns of employment tend to support Ribicoff. As the Chase Manhattan Bank makes plain a recent analysis published by its economic research department, the job question boils down to a case of "them that has, gets." When new investment creates the need for extra work, the skilled operator tends to get more overtime. Or he takes a second job, as a "moonlighter."

According to Department of Labor surveys, there are now some 23 million Americans or a full third of the working force who are employed more than 40 hours a week. Some 13 million do more than 48 hours of work. Now, if the extra work beyond 35 hours a week were to be shared out among the five million unemployed, the job problem that faces America could not be entirely solved. But it would be much more manageable.

The Chase Manhattan economists, however, in analyzing the nature of "moonlighting" show why a "share the work" program cannot succeed. Of the 23 million people who now put in more than 40 hours a week, some five million are entrepreneurs. They work long hours, whether on their own farms or in their own small businesses, as a matter of profit-and-loss necessity.

Then there are the three million "moonlighters." They feel they need the extra money to support their families in an inflationary era. A million of these moonlighters are self-employed in their second jobs. Others have professional skills that make their employment a "must" for those who pay them their second salaries. It is obvious that no law could be framed in a free country to prevent the three million moonlighters from exercising their God-given rights to the fruits of personal initiatives.

Next come the 15 million wage and salary workers with one job each that carries with it considerable overtime. Four million of these are professional and managerial men and women, and their extra work cannot in the nature of things be parcelled out among those without professional training, as the Chase Bank economists say. To any department or agency of the State of Ohio or any political subdivision thereof, or any quasi public board or agency:

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, THAT:

(1) Pursuant to Secs. 123.681 and 123.682, Revised Code, pertaining to the sale or transfer of certain unnecessary or unused State canal lands, the Department of Public Works is conducting a survey to determine the future need of said canal lands for projects of public nature. A portion of said canal lands referred to as Parcel No. O&E-PIC-2956.8992, is described as follows:

PARCEL NO. O&E-PIC-2956.8992 Being that portion on the abandoned Ohio & Erie Canal lands located in Sec. 23, T-2, R-22, Wanlup Twp., Pickaway Co., Ohio, presently leased to Charles H. Radcliff, beginning at Sta. 2956 plus 89.92 of the Albright Survey, thence continuing southerly and including the full width of the canal, 86.90 ft., more or less, to Sta. 2957 plus 76.82, being an irregular shaped parcel containing 15,389.135 sq. ft., more or less, and further described on Albright Survey Plat No. 185 on file in the Department of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

(2) Applications for the above described land may be submitted to ALFRED C. GLENOW, DIRECTOR, DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS, 707 OHIO DEPARTMENT BUILDING, Columbus 15, Ohio, and must be on file on or before January 6, 1964.

(3) All applications shall be accompanied by evidence satisfactory to the Director of Public Works, that lands sought to be obtained will be used solely for public purposes.

(4) If no application is received within the above specified time, it will be assumed that no department or agency of the State of Ohio, or any political subdivision thereof, or any quasi public board or agency, has any present or future need for the above State canal land, and said land will, then be sold to the above named lessee in accordance with Sec. 123.681, Revised Code.

Pair Wed for Only 16 Months Has Brood of 16 Kids

DALLAS, Pa. (AP)—A dozen gallons of milk, up to 75 loaves of bread, potatoes by the bushel, sugar by the hundredweight—wouldn't that jolt your family food budget for one week?

It is routine reckoning in the teeming household of Dr. and Mrs. Jay Young, who were married 16 months ago and now have 16 children.

Young, 42, head of the chemistry department at King's College in nearby Wilkes-Barre, was a widower with 12 children, and Ann Treacy, 37, was a South Bend, Ind., widow with four, when they married on Aug. 15, 1962.

Only one of the 16 sons and daughters doesn't live at home in this hard coal country town of about 3,000. John, 21, the eldest, is in his third year of study for the priesthood at the Holy Cross Fathers' Novitiate in Bennington, Vt.

The other Young children are:

13; Gregory, 11, Thomas, 10; Lucy, 8; and Margaret, 6, who attend a parochial school in Dallas and Antonia, 4.

The Treacy children are John, 7; Michael, 8, Cathleen, 10; and Eileen, 11, who attend the same parochial school as the others. "What the professor and his wife need," said a neighbor affectionately, "are a school bus all their own, a built-in grocery store, and a half-dozen dairy cows."

The Youngs say they manage very well in their 19-room three-story house, with three bathrooms, eight bedrooms, a restaurant style refrigerator-freezer, and a U-shaped table in the dining room.

Mrs. Young usually shops on Monday, a quiet day in the stores. She says the family grocery bill is about $300 a month. Milk, which is delivered, is extra.

The Youngs hold in storage whopping supplies of meat, fish, poultry, frozen fruits and vegetables. Fresh vegetables and bakery goods are bought on an approximation of a wholesale plan.

Nearly everyone has a hand in making dinner. Mother looks after the meat. The girls prepare and cook the potatoes and other vegetables. Father helps set the table.

Bedtime is 8 to 9:30 or perhaps 10, throughout the school year. The average day in the Young home starts at 5:30 a.m.

Young says he is glad to let more people know about his family "because I should like to encourage others to appreciate the benefits of large families."

He thinks the wider experience, the greater sharing, the community feeling, the give-and-take, the range of personality that characterize so large a family as his are of immeasurable value in the children's development.

CHARITY YULE TREES — The local unit of the Ohio National Guard is selling Christmas trees again this year. All profits realized will go toward the purchase of food baskets for the needy. The trees are Scotch pine, grown specifically for Christmas use, according to Sgt. Chester Iery, shown here preparing one for a stand. The sergeant noted that all trees at the Franklin St. Armory are being sold at the same price, and the purchaser may take his choice.

the corridor and a special tree will be in the Blue Room.

About a week prior to Christmas a live Nativity scene is assembled on the Constitution Hall stage. A military chaplain narrates a holiday theme and the United States Army Band and chorus presents Christmas carols.

An international children's festival is held for some 1,700 boys and girls dressed in costumes of their native countries who come from some 70 embassies to the Statler-Hilton Hotel with their parents.

Another international program of skits, songs and dances is given by several hundred people from the city's embassies. This event of many languages is held Dec. 26 in Lisner Auditorium. During the Pageant of Peace, the district's Recreation Department will sponsor two performances of "Hansel and Gretel" in the auditorium.

Appropriate holiday exhibitions will be featured in such well-known places as the Botanic Gardens, the National Gallery of Art and the Folger Shakespeare Library.

The spirit of the Nativity reigns strongest in Washington's scores of beautiful churches of various denominations. Among the most noted are the special Nativity scenes and decorations in Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul (also known as the Washington Cathedral of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese) and the Immaculate Conception on the Catholic University campus.

Cleveland Law School, Baldwin-Wallace Tied
CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland-Marshall Law School affiliated with Baldwin-Wallace College from 1897 until 1926, will resume that status. An announcement Wednesday said both schools will continue to operate at their present locations and will remain autonomous in their internal administration and finances. The law school will function as a division of B-W with a unified faculty for both institutions.

Pair Wed for Only 16 Months Has Brood of 16 Kids

DALLAS, Pa. (AP)—A dozen gallons of milk, up to 75 loaves of bread, potatoes by the bushel, sugar by the hundredweight—wouldn't that jolt your family food budget for one week?

It is routine reckoning in the teaming household of Dr. and Mrs. Jay Young, who were married 16 months ago and now have 16 children.

Young, 42, head of the chemistry department at King's College in nearby Wilkes-Barre, was a widower with 12 children, and Ann Treacy, 37, was a South Bend, Ind., widow with four, when they married on Aug. 15, 1962.

Only one of the 16 sons and daughters doesn't live at home in this hard coal country town of about 3,000. John, 21, the eldest, is in his third year of study for the priesthood at the Holy Cross Fathers' Novitiate in Bennington, Vt.

The other Young children are: Paul, 19, a part-time student at King's College; Cecilia, 17, a freshman at College Misericordia here; Michael, 16, a sophomore at West Side Central Catholic High School in neighboring Kingston; Joseph, 15, a sophomore at Dallas High; Andrea, 14, a freshman at West Side Central Catholic; Therese, 13; Gregory, 11, Thomas, 10; Lucy, 8; and Margaret, 6, who attend a parochial school in Dallas and Antiochia, 4.

The Treacy children are John, 7; Michael, 8, Cathleen, 10; and Eileen, 11, who attend the same parochial school as the others. "What the professor and his wife need," said a neighbor affectionately, "are a school bus all their own, a built-in grocery store, and a half-dozen dairy cows."

The Youngs say they manage very well in their 19-room three-story house, with three bathrooms, eight bedrooms, a restaurant-style refrigerator-freezer, and a U-shaped table in the dining room.

Mrs. Young usually shops on Monday, a quiet day in the stores. She says the family grocery bill is about $300 a month. Milk, which is delivered, is extra.

The Youngs hold in storage whopping supplies of meat, fish, poultry, frozen fruits and vegetables. Fresh vegetables and bakery goods are bought on an approximation of a wholesale plan.

Nearly everyone has a hand in making dinner. Mother looks after the meat. The girls prepare and cook the potatoes and other vegetables. Father helps set the table.

Bedtime is 8 to 9:30 or perhaps 10, throughout the school year. The average day in the Young home starts at 5:30 a.m.

Young says he is glad to let more people know about his family "because I should like to encourage others to appreciate the benefits of large families."

He thinks the wider experience, the greater sharing, the community feeling, the give-and-take, the range of personality that characterizes so large a family as his are of immeasurable value in the children's development.

Use a mop treated with a light paraffin oil if you want to sweep and dust at the same time.

Never put a sharp kitchen knife in a drawer unless the blade is shielded. Stored without shielding, the blade might rub against other tools; its sharp edge needs protection. A rack that may be placed in a drawer or hung on the wall is excellent for knife storage.

If you don't cover apples you are baking, be sure to baste them occasionally with the syrup in the pan.

Cards with Personal Touch

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Every family receives countless Christmas cards. They're opened immediately but, because of the happy confusion of Christmas, usually get only a cursory glance—unless there's something about them that catches the eye!

Later, when holiday hubbub dies down, cards are read carefully.

If you want your greetings to stand out among the many from the very first moment they arrive, choose them with care. Hand-pick a design that identifies with you or your interests and thereby makes the card unmistakably yours.

One good idea is to select a card design inspired by your hobby. There are any number of these in the always striking portfolio of cards put out annually by the American Artists Group.

For the antique collector, for example, Tait-Henson has a most original design of evergreens and ornaments gracefully twined around an old oxen yoke.

A bird-watcher's card by Ranulph By shows birds gathering crumbs scattered in the snow around an outdoor shrine.

For summer sailors, Gordon Grant's painting of a whaling ship is a beauty, while those who build ship models will find a card picturing an 18th Century sailing ship against a parchment map is perfect. The latter design is from an original painting by John O'H. Cosgrave II.

Antique auto enthusiasts will delight in a colorful greeting by Marian L. Ebert who shows Grandma and Grandpa, all goggled up in a gift-filled auto, spinning off to deliver presents.

Stan Fraydas has designed a greeting for the philatelist.

It's a globe stamped with colorful issues from the world over. Its stand carries Christmas greetings in ten languages.

Dorothy Simmons has done a most amusing card for anyone with theatrical interests. She depicts Santa with his traditional costume altered a bit to make him look like a Shakespearean actor.

There are cards designed to appeal to ski fans, musicians, good cooks, pet owners, hunters, skaters, singers and inveterate travelers. In short there's a card appropriate for everyone and finding the one that's just right for you is half the fun.

DUV Dinner Meet Scheduled Saturday

The Daughters of Union Veterans, Civil War 1861-1865, will meet 6:30 p. m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. C. O. Kerns, 910 Atwater Ave., for Daughters Day Dinner and gift exchange.

Guild Holds Yule Party

Members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 21 held a cooperative Christmas party this week in the home of Mrs. Collis Young, 311 E. Main St.

Yuletide decorations were used. Mrs. Franklin Kibler, president, presided at the tea table. Each member brought two gifts which were distributed to children in foster homes.

Bridge was played, with prizes going to Mrs. Ben Gordon, Mrs. Budd Harden, Mrs. Dorothy Gearhart and Mrs. Lyle Davis.

The next meeting will be Jan. 13 in the home of Mrs. Davis, 320 Watt St.

Dear Abby: Always in the Drink!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has recently been shown a lot of attention by a doctor. (He has never been married, and is considered quite a catch.) I enjoy his company and am flattered with the attention he's been giving me; but here is the problem. When we are out socially, he drinks like a fish. You can't tell a 56-year-old man that you refuse to ride with him when he's been drinking, so I just close my eyes and go. Is there a diplomatic way to handle this, Abby?

LUCKY

DEAR LUCKY: Lucky is right! If you like his company and he drinks like a fish, tell him you would be glad to swim with him, but you don't want to ride with him. Suggest he call a taxi when he's had a few. If he refuses, let some other "lucky" lady have him.

22 Attend Calvary WSWs Session

The WSWs of the Calvary EUB Church met in the home of Mrs. Dale DeLong, 590 Ridgewood Drive. Refreshments were served to 16 members and six guests by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. W. Goeller.

Mrs. Goeller, president, welcomed members and guests. Mrs. Harry Betz led Devotions with the theme "Peace". Group singing was conducted. Mrs. DeLong read Scripture. Articles were read by Eleanor Wilson, Mrs. Manley Carothers, Mrs. G. H. Niswender, Mrs. Goeller sang "Peace In Our Time." Mrs. Ida Warner and Mrs. Frances Davis offered prayer. Mrs. Earl Milliron and Mrs. Carl Agin read poems and Mrs. Betz closed with prayer.

Mrs. Betz, secretary of spiritual life and Mrs. DeLong, secretary of social relations, reported.

Mrs. Niswender, secretary for youth, reminded member of the Christmas play Dec. 15. There will be caroling the Sunday before Christmas. Mrs. Russell Archer gave the treasurers report.

Mrs. DeLong showed pictures that had been taken at different times of some of the Sunday School Classes.

Republican Women Slate Monday Meet

Members of the Pickaway County Women's Republican Club will hold their annual Christmas Holiday Tea 1 p. m. Monday in the Methodist Church annex.

Following a program of Christmas music, Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, president, will present a travelogue showing scenes from her travels through Spain and Portugal.

Hostesses will be Mrs. J. B. Work, Mrs. Channing Vlerhove and Mrs. Donald H. Watt.

Dress Up Windows With Shades

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you want to spruce up the home grounds for the holidays, consider using shades of beauty. They make a wonderfully decorative window dressing.

Fabric window shades are handsome enough to be hung alone. No curtains needed! But they're also effective when combined with a cornice or framed by draperies.

A plain cloth shade takes on a decorator look when its trimmed with cut-out "appliques" from draper fabric.

A patterned cloth shade gives a real lift to a room setting.

The professional method for making fabric shades involves bonding or gluing fabric to a plain shade. It's a job best done by a shade dealer or by someone with a real knack for do-it-yourself projects.

Now, however, thanks to a new product, you don't have to be an expert to create elegant fabric shades easily. You can roll your own.

The product is a liquid vinyl solution that turns inexpensive cotton fabric into chic-looking shades.

Available in window shade departments of major stores, the liquid stiffens cotton fabric to window shade strength. Once stiffened, the cotton cuts as eas-

JUST ME

DEAR ME: Even though a courtesy is expected, it should always be acknowledged with thanks.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a double-ring ceremony when we were married, only he never wears his ring. Once he said he lost it, and as soon as I told him I'd buy him another one he found it somewhere. Another time he came home with his ring in his wallet. He is always making up some excuse for not wearing his wedding ring. I don't believe a word he says. I got mad and told him if he wasn't going to wear his wedding ring, I wasn't wearing mine, either. I took mine off and haven't worn it in a week. We have two children and I know it doesn't look right, but do you blame me?

NO RING

DEAR NO: Two wrongs don't make a right. Put your wedding ring back on and find out what there is about your married life that makes your husband like to pretend he is single.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VIV: If you thought your boss was out of line, you should have either put him in his place, or given him your notice. What did you expect your husband to do? Go to the office and knock his block off?

Five Point WSCS Plans Holiday Party

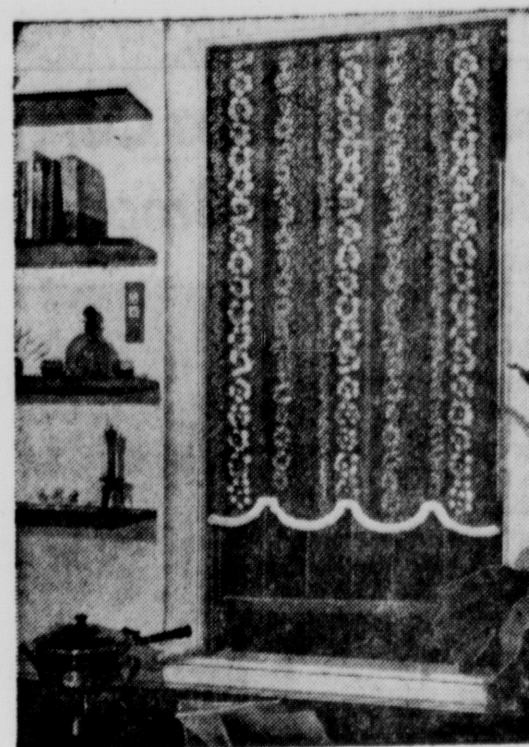

A Christmas party and gift exchange will be held 8 p. m. Wednesday by members of the Five Points Methodist WSCS in the church basement.

Mrs. Paul Dawson, Miss Laura Long and Mrs. Francis Furniss will be hostesses.

The word "nutrient" — often used nowadays — is a general term that refers to the proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals which together nourish the body.

If you are cutting down rather than cutting out on a weight-watching program, spread the butter thin on your morning toast, help yourself to only a suspicion of salad dressing, and be content with very small portions of rich desserts.

No frosting for that cake? Mix honey, melted butter and finely chopped nuts; spread over the cake and broil. Serve at once while the topping is deliciously hot.

CHIC WINDOW SHADES — A new product now available makes it possible for you to create fancy window shades from any cotton fabric. Either plain or patterned they make a decorative window dressing.

ily as paper and doesn't fray, eliminating the need to stitch side hems.

All you need to make two decorative shades is one bottle of solution, about four yards of fabric, two shade rollers and a staple gun for attaching fabric to roller.

For shades with "body", choose a tightly woven cotton without a special finish.

You can use old shade rollers or acquire them by buying inexpensive plain shades at the dime store. Take the shades off the rollers and remove the flat pieces of wood that serve as shade pulls.

Cut the fabric to the proper length, allowing for the bottom hem and wrap-around on the roller.

Immerse the fabric in one part vinyl solution to two parts water. Gently squeeze out excess liquid and hang the fabric from the top end to dry. Iron under a damp press cloth.

Using a yardstick as a straight-edge guide, trim fabric to the width of the shade. Turn under the bottom and stitch a hem for the wooden slat. Insert it. Tack fabric to roller and your homemade shade is ready to be hung.

Sunday To Be Observed As 'Bill of Rights' Day

Each year Dec. 15 is observed as "Bill of Rights Day" throughout the United States. This document sets forth the freedoms Americans enjoy.

The American "Bill of Rights" consists of the first ten amendments to the federal constitution and all were adopted at one time in 1791. It specifies in detail a number of basic civil rights of the individual citizen. Unchanged by subsequent amendments and jealously guarded by courses, these privileges must still be respected by governing bodies today.

Among the most familiar of those relating to freedom of religion, speech, and of the press. The same article protects the rights of peaceable assembly and the privilege of petitioning the government for redress of grievances.

Another amendment protects persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures, and specified that warrants shall be issued only upon probable cause, and only if supported by oath or affirmation.

The due process of law amendment encompasses several guarantees. Every American is protected against double jeopardy—being placed twice in legal jeopardy for the same offense; against being compelled to be a witness against himself in a criminal case and against having his private property taken for public use without just compensation.

Americans also are protected against being held for trial for a capital (death penalty) or other infamous crime, unless upon a presentment or indictment of a grand jury. Of course, no person may be deprived of life, liberty or property without orderly court procedures, or due process of law.

The right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury in the locality where the crime was committed, the right to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation, and the rights to compel attendance of defense witnesses and to have the assistance of defense counsel in all criminal prosecutions are secured by another section of the "Bill of Rights."

Excessive bail and fines, and cruel and unusual punishments, are prohibited in the Eighth Amendment. Other articles insure the right to bear arms and ban quartering of soldiers in time.

Then, to make quite clear to governing bodies the underlying intent of the preceding provisions, the Ninth Amendment states: "The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people."

The Tenth Amendment further emphasizes this basic theory by providing: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

Thus, that fundamental philosophy expressed in the Declaration of Independence, that men are endowed with certain unalienable rights, and that "to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed," has been carried forward into the highest law of the land.

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan's Harlem, jammed with a population close to one-half million, was the laboratory in which "CBS Reports" Wednesday night attempted to sample moods, emotion and opinions of Negro leaders in the current equal rights struggle.

It was impossible in one hour to do more than touch on the aims of groups as far apart as the extremist "Back to Africa" and black nationalist organizations on one hand and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Congress of Racial Equality and the National Urban League on the other.

But merely by presenting the problems of what narrator Harvey Reasoner called a negro ghetto—slums, bad housing, unemployment and a shortage of trained people plus impatience and revolt against their situation—the program served an important purpose.

It was a sobering, thought-provoking show. It found the Harlem temper very, very warm.

ABC plans a major reshuffling of its daytime schedules on Dec. 30, which will put a number of shows in new time spots, result in the demise of five-year-old "Who Do You Trust?" and the birth of still another game show.

Involved in the switches are "Seven Keys," "The Ernie Ford Show," "General Hospital" and "Queen for a Day."

"Who Do You Trust?" started in October 1958 with Johnny

Carson as comedian-in-charge of audience interviews. Woody Woodbury, a Florida night club entertainer, took over the show when Johnny moved to NBC and the "Tonight Show" last season.

Dick Clark will make his debut as a television panel show host with "The Object Is," that will follow "The Price Is Right" at 11:30 a.m. It will follow the classic TV recipe of mixing up celebrities and studio contestants in a guessing game.

Recommended tonight: "The Long, Lost Life of Edward Small," NBC, 10-11 EST—Suspense tale with Richard Crenna in the title role and James Whitmore playing an attorney whose life is threatened.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The important problem of age gets scant notice down through the generations as constitutional experts argue a question as old as the Constitution itself.

Who should succeed to the presidency if there is no president or vice president? Should it be a member of Congress? Should it be a member of the president's Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state?

You can do arithmetic which will show that over the past 30 years, on the average, the secretary of state was younger when he began his job than the speaker of the House or the Senate's president pro-tempore.

Then you run into an old truism: It's not just a question of age but how good a man is at whatever his age happens to be.

Right now age is getting attention because under present law next in line behind President Johnson for the presidency, if he died, are two aging men: House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., and Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., the Senate's president pro tempore.

Neither could be accurately described as a ball of fire.

There were reports Wednesday that both might step down to let younger men be in line if anything happened to Johnson.

But when a reporter asked McCormack about it, he stormed out, saying: "Is there no limit to decency?" He had previously said he favors the present arrangement which puts him next in line for the White House.

And in the Senate, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana not only defended Hayden but practically called him a monument.

Under law for 94 years, from 1792 until 1886, this was the line of succession: the Senate's president pro tempore and then the House speaker.

Under a change in the law and for 61 years, from 1886 until 1947, this was the succession: the members of the Cabinet, starting with secretary of state.

The law was changed again in 1947 and for the past 16 years this has been the succession: the speaker of the House, the Senate's president pro tempore, and then the Cabinet, starting with the secretary of state.

The average age of the Cabinet which Johnson took over from President Kennedy—in contrast to McCormack's 71 years and Hayden's 86—is 49 years. Secretary of State Dean Rusk is 54.

For the past 30 years the average age at which a secretary of state took office—there were eight secretaries in that time—was 58.

In that same 30-year period the average age of the House speaker—there have been six—was 64.

But the picture gets a little mixed when it is remembered that some men stay on and on in a job, getting older, but still highly capable.

Justifiable Homicide Seen in Akron Probe

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The coroner has ruled that the death of William Van Riper, 48, killed by a policeman's gunfire, was justifiable homicide and that Mrs. Van Riper's death was accidental.

Both were killed by bullets fired by Patrolman George Wagner Nov. 18. The patrolman fired twice at Van Riper after Van Riper shot at his estranged wife. One bullet ricocheted and hit Mrs. Van Riper in the head, Coroner A. H. Kyriakides ruled Wednesday.

Ohioan Faces Another Trial

Man in Death Row
Wins on Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I guess we'll have to bring him back if he wants a jury trial," Stark County Prosecutor Norman Putnam commented — speaking of a man who has been in Ohio Penitentiary's Death Row more than a year.

The prosecutor said that is the upshot of Wednesday's decision of the Ohio Supreme Court refusing to review the case of Kenneth M. Strong, accused wife-killer.

Strong, 39, was convicted of first-degree murder, without a mercy recommendation, by a Stark County Common Pleas Court jury Sept. 1, 1962. The Alliance man was charged with fatally shooting his wife in Canton's Gay Nineties Cafe — allegedly to stop her from telling police about the Aug. 14, 1961, robbery — slaying of antique dealer James Crawford.

The 5th District Court of Appeals last summer ordered a new trial for Strong on a technicality, and the Supreme Court finding leaves that order in effect.

The Appeals Court ruled that Strong is entitled to a new trial because, it said, 10 persons who later served on the jury which convicted him should have been excused after hearing the remarks of a prospective woman juror. The woman, who did not serve on the jury, had said she was opposed to capital punishment—but not in Strong's case.

The Appeals Court conceded there was "abundant and clear-cut evidence" to convict Strong. But it said he had a right "to push all stops and require the state to touch all the bases" since he faced death in the electric chair.

Putnam says nothing will be done on the matter until after the holidays.

Ex-Revenue, GOP Aides Are Accused

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two men were being sought as part of a gang—led, authorities said, by a former Internal Revenue Service employee and the manager of the 11th Ward Republican Club — charged with forging and embezzling more than $30,000 in federal income tax refund checks.

Four persons were arrested Wednesday after an investigation begun last spring by IRS inspectors, the Secret Service and postal inspectors.

In Cuyahoga County jail Wednesday night were Rhea D. Alford, 41, and Royal S. Dunlap, 53, both of Cleveland. Miss Alford became an IRS clerk early in 1956 and resigned last May, citing reasons of health. Dunlap is the Republican Club manager.

Released on $1,000 personal bond each were Mrs. Catherine McCroskey, 30, and Ira S. Pittman, 43, both of Cleveland. They were charged with assisting in passing forged checks. They are to appear at a hearing Friday.

All four were arraigned before U.S. District Court Judge Ben C. Green, sitting as U.S. Commissioner.

Miss Alford and Dunlap waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to the federal grand jury. They failed to post $5,000 bond each.

IRS inspectors said numerous irregularities were disclosed in a routine audit last June and that Miss Alford worked in the office where checks go through.

Some nine million motor vehicles are licensed in West Germany.

Earthslide Swallows 4 Brothers, 5 Homes

ST. JOACHIM DE TOUREL, Que. (AP) — A second earth movement today sent two houses tumbling into a sea of mud which swallowed up four brothers in a truck and three other houses Wednesday night.

The first earth movement also demolished a highway bridge and carried four homes into the St. Lawrence River.

Quebec provincial police, working throughout the night to help this stricken and alarmed Gaspé Peninsula community, ordered 10 houses evacuated.

Except for the brothers, no other deaths were reported in the sudden earth shift in this small Gaspé Peninsula community 275 miles northeast of Quebec. But the situation was so confused that officials said there may have been more fatalities.

A pit 150 feet deep and a half square mile in area was opened in the Tourelle Creek Valley 500 to 1,000 feet above the Gaspé Highway.

Quebec provincial police said a car also was swallowed up by the earth movement but that its occupants — a couple — were pulled out of the mud by rope. The truck carrying the brothers vanished. They were identified as Johnny Therrien, 32; and his brothers, Raymond 28; Benoit, 22, and Onesime, 20.

Constable Martin Gauthier said fishermen in three boats rescued at least six persons from the houses swept into the river. No other occupants were believed lost.

The disaster came at 5:30 p.m. with a trembling of the earth.

An elderly woman whose house was carried away said she barely had time to left up the telephone and ask the operator to get help. Within moments water swirled up to her knees. She fled the dwelling just before it was swept away amid chunks of earth as big as the house.

The giant earth movement also tore up a portion of a secondary road on which the truck and car were traveling. The thick grey mud moved down the hillside into the bed of Tourelle Creek and into the St. Lawrence River.

On its way it knocked out the 50-foot Gaspé Highway bridge that crosses the creek just before it feeds into the St. Lawrence.

It was a near-zero stormy night and police had to use ski-equipped vehicles.

A Red Cross volunteer from nearby Ste. Anne Des Monts described the disaster scene: "There was a gap in the highway. No one could get across. People were standing on both sides, scared and afraid. There were no light, no telephones, nothing. It was terrible, very, very cold and windy.

"I spoke with the police and they put spotlights on two houses floating in the St. Lawrence River. Later, two more were carried down the creek into the river."

A provincial surveyor, Gilbert Sasseville, said the earth movement may have been caused by an underground lake. He said there had been landslides in the area before.

Dayton Trusty Accused Of Aiding Jail Break

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Authorities have charged a Montgomery County jail trusty with aiding and abetting a jail break. Sheriff Bernard Keiter said Wednesday that Robert Lawrence, 26, of Dayton, under sentence for failure to provide child support, is accused of smuggling a gun to Emmet McCarthy, 31, who escaped a week ago.

RUBY DEFENSE—Three of four lawyers who will defend Jack Ruby, assassin of President Kennedy's assassin, are shown at the Dallas County sheriff's office after talking with Ruby. From left: Sam S. Brody, Los Angeles; Melvin Belli, chief counsel, San Francisco; J. H. Tonahill, Jasper, Tex. Tom Howard of Dallas also will participate in the defense, which will be based on a plea of temporary insanity.

Peace Corps Is OK'd for Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed today and sent to the White House a bill authorizing a major expansion of the Peace Corps.

The action was taken by voice vote, and without debate, on a routine call of the calendar of unopposed measures.

The bill authorizes an appropriation of $102 million for the corps for the current fiscal year.

Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver testified last week that plans call for having some 11,300 volunteers in service by the end of next August.

Congress appropriated $59 million for the corps last year.

Funds for the corps will be included in a catch-all appropriation bill, which also will provide appropriations for the foreign aid program.

The Peace Corps is operating in 46 countries, and has turned down or postponed requests from about 30 other nations, Shriver said at the time.

Cincinnati Factory Sold to Hamiltonians

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Towsley Trucks, a Cincinnati manufacturer of factory and warehouse trucks, has been sold to the Hamilton Caster & Manufacturing Co. No price was disclosed.

Ralph L. Lippert, president of Hamilton Caster, said Towsley's truck manufacturing will be transferred to the Hamilton Caster plant.

Most theorists think a more liberal-minded candidate would have a better chance.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

Final salute: For six hours, senators gave their final tributes. Then the junior senator from Massachusetts rose to his feet.

"If the country can be united, the sacrifice will not have been in vain," he said in a quiet, firm voice.

With these words, Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy expressed Wednesday the "heartfelt thanks" of the Kennedy family for the Senate's eulogies of his assassinated brother, President John F. Kennedy.

Lady Santa: The role was to have been played by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, but it was Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson who brought toys to 150 youngsters at D. C. General Hospital.

"Mrs. Kennedy suggested that I might fill the date," Mrs. Johnson told the young patients as she toured the children's wards Wednesday with her daughter, Lucy Baines, 16.

One of the last things President Kennedy did, the new First Lady told the children, "was to arrange for all the toys that we brought here today."

Strike blocked: President Johnson has blocked for at least 60 days a strike by machinists against six airlines.

The walkout had been scheduled to begin at 12:01 a.m. today.

Acting under provisions of the Railway Labor Act, Johnson ordered an emergency board to look into the dispute between the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists and the airlines — Braniff, Continental, Eastern, National, Northwest and Trans World.

At issue in the dispute are wages and work rules.

Grave markers: Two simple granite headstones mark the graves of President Kennedy's two infant children buried on each side of him in Arlington National Cemetery.

The markers were taken from the original burial sites of Patrick, who died shortly after birth in August, and a daughter dead at birth in August 1956.

Kudor tribesmen of New Guinea regard visiting naturalists with esteem because they themselves are well-informed about birds, insects and animals. But to them, outsiders who come to scratch for gold in stream beds are "long-long" or crazy.

This toy digital computer enables a child to play games, solve problems, even tell fortunes!

New Scientific Toy List Not Over Junior's Head

By ED MISURELL
Central Press Staff Writer

How many days to Christmas? This is a question that is uppermost in the minds of many parents at this time of year. What can we get for the kids? That's the query that usually follows.

A recent check on this year's toyland discloses that it is fully in step with the fast pace of the contemporary world. Some 400 new toys are on the market this year, in addition to thousands that have been perennial favorites.

Many of the newer playthings are offshoots of the space age. Space play has matured from science fiction to science fact. Along with a battery of rockets and mobile missiles, a whole new array of modern kits, oriented to the study of the Earth and the atmosphere, are on hand for the youngster with a scientific turn of mind.

Even the computer age has had its impact on Toyland 1963. By feeding data into the toy computer, a child can play games, solve problems and tell fortunes. As the equivalent of an electronic computer, it demonstrates how electronic brains work, and provides a visual aid to the understanding of binary arithmetic.

The U. S. home is reproduced in faithful miniature in a variety of the new playthings. Sure to catch the eye of little girls is a magnetized doll house in which an entire family and pets can be moved around realistically by manipulation of a magnetized and placed under the floor of the doll house.

According to Mel Freud, president of the Toy Guidance Council, there has been a resurgence of interest in military toys. An army engineer's set of heavy gauge steel provides equipment for building miniature airfields, army encampments and military highways to junior's own specifications.

Should he wish to knock them out of operation, there's a new cannon which will fire projectiles whenever he gives it a verbal command. In addition, there are supersonic jets which closely follow the design of U. S. armed services planes. These, too, can be employed in a simulated attack.

A novel addition to the musical side of Toyland this year is a razz-ma-tazz piano which enables any youngster to play a goodly number of familiar tunes. Interchangeable music rolls, each with six different songs, are placed in the back of the instrument.

A lever in front of the piano's keyboard permits selection of the tunes. Then each time the keyboard is struck a different note sounds. Continuous action produces a complete tune.

For the motor-minded boy, one of the year's most ingenious playthings is a car which demonstrates the operation of solar energy. This comes in kit form and is planned for easy assembly without glue or soldering.

When assembled, the battery powered car can be started, stopped and speed controlled by shining the beam of an ordinary flashlight on the vehicle's built-in solar cell.

For those rainy days and evenings, there are a variety of new games which test the mettle of both child and parent. These vary from a number named after today's most popular television shows to one which is keyed to replays of historic battles. Keen strategists can pull a switch on history, too — the Confederacy can win or Napoleon can knock Wellington for a loop!

Since playthings are the tools which help youngsters to learn basic skills, they should be selected carefully, according to Dr. Mary Moffit of Queens College, N. Y., a member of the Toy Guidance Council Advisory Committee. Along with safety and age factors, she points out, thought should also be given to where a child lives.

If he has the run of a backyard play space, a garage, or

Aged Health Aid Boomed

Celebrezze Backs Federal Proposal

CLEVELAND (AP)—Former Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze, in a speech to a joint dinner meeting of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine and the Cleveland Bar Association, made a strong pitch for a federal program of hospital insurance for the aged Wednesday night.

Celebrezze, now U. S. secretary of health, education and welfare, told the group that the proposed program would promote, rather than hinder, private business activity.

"It should be noted," he said, "that the establishment and successful operation of the old-age, survivors and disability social insurance system has not discouraged, as some feared, but instead has greatly encouraged the development of private retirement systems and an increased life insurance coverage."

He said that, when federal funds first were used to support medical research, fears were expressed that private efforts would be discouraged.

"This has not proved to be the case," he said. "On the contrary, private foundations, voluntary health organizations and industry have increased their contribution to medical research more than five-fold in the past 16 years."

He called the program of hospital insurance for the aged through Social Security a logical extension of the Social Security System, and said it was a necessary protection against possible high medical costs in old age.

"The protection afforded retired or disabled persons and their families, protection which they earned during their working years, is a major means of preventing poverty," he said.

$11½ Million Hinted For Ohio College Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio could obtain as much as $11,584,117 in college construction grants under the new aid-to-education bill just approved by Congress.

A tabulation released Wednesday by the U. S. Office of education shows that $8,900,211 is authorized for Ohio undergraduate facilities and $2,683,906 for public community college and technical institute facilities.

a basement playroom, then large scale toys and games will be appropriate gifts. If he lives in a small apartment, space problems must be weighed to determine a toy's utility.

When a large family is involved, it may be helpful to give playthings which can be used by different age groups together.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Snow and freezing drizzle caused hazardous driving over Ohio Wednesday night.

New snow accumulations amounted to two inches at Columbus, Dayton, Cleveland and Zanesville while one additional inch was measured at Youngstown and Toledo.

Temperatures remained in a narrow range during the night. Early today, Toledo had 27, Columbus 32 and Chesapeake 38.

The precipitation had ended over most of the state by this morning except near Lake Erie as high pressure moved into the state.

Today and tonight will be mostly cloudy, although some sunshine may break through in the western counties this afternoon.

More snow is expected over the northern half of Ohio Friday as a new cold front moved rapidly eastward through the state.

Scioto Grange Meet Planned

Scioto Grange No. 2456 will meet Dec. 19 at Scioto Twp. School.

Instead of the regular gift exchange, members are asked to bring wrapped gifts marked for man or woman. The gifts will be sent to the Orient State Hospital.

Santa Claus will be present at the meeting for the children. Each family is asked to bring popcorn, candy or cookies for refreshments.

Contributors to the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges in October and November, not previously announced, included the Second National Bank, Circleville.

Thirty-three schools make a continuing "community chest" appeal through the foundation for corporate contributions to operating funds. The foundation reports gifts are now 15 per cent ahead of the same time last year.

Mrs. Kennedy Purchases 169-Year-Old Residence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has purchased a 169-year-old Georgetown house with 14 rooms and plans to move in with her two children by mid-January.

The three-story brick home is across the street from the residence of Undersecretary of State and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman, where Mrs. Kennedy is living temporarily.

Purchase of the property at 3017 N. Street was announced Wednesday, five days after Mrs. Kennedy moved out of the White House.

The price Mrs. Kennedy paid the owners, retired businessman James McMillan Gibson and his wife, was not revealed. But the house had been on the market for some time listed at $225,000. Recently, the asking price had been dropped to about $190,000, real estate agents in the area said.

The house is one of the oldest in Georgetown, a commercial and residential area founded even before the District of Columbia was established.

A wealthy early settler, Ninian Beall, built it for his son.

Lima News Chief Claims Hands Clean

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The Lima News and Freedom Newspapers Inc. have operated with scrupulous regard for all laws, including anti-trust laws, says C.H. Hoiles, vice president of Freedom Newspapers Inc.

Freedom Newspapers, "principal partner" in the Lima News, is the subject of a civil anti-trust suit filed last month by the Lima Citizen. The Citizen, which came into being in 1947, is an afternoon competitor of the News in Lima.

The Citizen has alleged that the News has attempted to monopolize the Lima newspaper market by illegal means. It is seeking damages amounting to about $7.8 million.

Hoiles said: "The Citizen's list of charges exhausts practically the whole range of possible anti-competitive practices but, in examining it, we are unable to relate any of these charges to our own behavior."

The newspaper group official also said, in part, that "the Citizen's present legal action is nothing more than a complaint that the News is still in business."

Man Is Sentenced For Slaying of Wife

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—George Ihlenfeld was sentenced to life in Ohio Penitentiary Wednesday after pleading guilty to second-degree murder in the slaying of his wife, Jean, 28, at her mother's home last May.

Thomas. The house has been the residence of the late Adm. Alan G. Kirk and one time Secretary of War Newton D. Baker.

The 14 rooms include a spacious first-floor drawing room and dining room, with a master bedroom and library on the second floor, each with a fireplace.

Before moving in Mrs. Kennedy may take her two children, Caroline, 6, and John Jr., 3, to Palm Beach for the Christmas season they traditionally spend with their grandparents there.

Meanwhile, President Johnson signed into law Wednesday a special bill to give Mrs. Kennedy and her children Secret Service protection for the next years. It also provides for office space for 12 months and $50,000 for staff salaries during that period.

Mrs. Kennedy also gets free mailing privileges for life and the bill authorized payment of $15,000 for the late president's funeral and burial expenses.

Early Welfare Distribution Set

The Pickaway County Welfare Department will receive $10,846.19 as its share of the advance distribution of poor relief money, according to Roger W. Tracy, auditor of state.

Pauline Roese, director of the local welfare department, noted that it had become common practice in recent years for the state to make this distribution before Christmas. It is normally due in January or early February.

Arthritis Victim Thankful For March-of-Dimes Work

EDITOR'S NOTE — Some of the nation's foremost rheumatologists believe there will be a major breakthrough in arthritis in the foreseeable future. This is the devout hope, too, of Mrs. Hilda H. Coyle of North Chili, N. Y., a 33-year-old wife and mother of four small children, who here describes how it feels to endure rheumatoid arthritis, one of the arthritic diseases afflicting 11 million Americans.

By HILDA H. COYLE
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper
What I call my private hell began 10 years ago, a few months after the birth of my second child. That private hell is rheumatoid arthritis.

It isn't like cancer where you may have some idea whether you're going to die or not. With this, you wish it would kill you because, almost day in and day out, it means blinding pain.

No let-up, most of the time. I love my family, my husband and my four small children. I am proud of them, their ready sympathy, their desire to help, their understanding. But though they are the closest persons to me in the world, even they don't understand the pain I suffer.

Frustration makes for impatience, I suppose, and arthritis doesn't make me any more even-tempered. As to why I feel frustrated, the reasons are plain enough. I wake up feeling like I'd been run over by a truck. When I prepare food for the children, I spill milk and baby food all over the kitchen floor because my deformed hands are so clumsy. This means the floor has to be mopped and re-mopped all day long.

There is no getting away from persistent reminders at every hand that I am a crippled woman. I do show some improvement, because of treatment at the March of Dimes Arthritis Center, but that isn't a return to being a whole woman.

I would like to go dancing again. That's out of the question. Not only physically but because I catch rude people staring at my knobby hands, as though I were a sideshow freak. Gloves can't hide something like this and my special shoes only make my feet look bigger.

I find myself going 'round and 'round in a vicious circle. I am clumsy at housework, but I work at it hard partly because making beds and sweeping and re-mopping the kitchen, for instance, help to relieve the boredom of experiencing unending pain.

But, of course, the physical exertion just brings on more pain.

Now that I have painted this bleak picture, you will ask what is there left for me to live for? Since I am almost never without pain, why go on? Well, for one thing, I have to believe that I can and will improve. There is no place for me to go but up.

And then you might say I have five other reasons to want to live. Those reasons are my four children and my husband. My long illness has worked hardships on them, and naturally they have worried over my hospitalizations and my constant trips to the doctors.

My two boys and two girls range in age from 16 months to 13 years. They need the love and discipline that only I, their mother, can give them. And a wife owes her husband any help that is within her strength to give.

These are all responsibilities that I try and want to meet — when I'm not in the hospital for more surgery. And, to tell the truth, it's probably easier to meet them than to live with yourself when you duck them.

Finally, the March of Dimes people say that a scientific breakthrough in arthritis — a preventive or a cure, or both — could be almost around the corner. They have been investing large sums in research grants to solve this problem. That means there is room for hope. That's the thing that will save me, and the other four or five million crippled arthritics like me around the country.

I just pray it comes in my lifetime.

Ike, Nixon Have Huddle On Politics

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon came to Pennsylvania Wednesday to talk politics with the man he tried unsuccessfully to succeed — former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Pausing briefly at the Harrisburg State Airport, the former vice president said his talk with Eisenhower did not change his (Nixon's) mind about running for president again.

He said Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania "is being mentioned prominently" in GOP circles as a leading prospect for the nomination.

Nixon would not discuss politics further. He indicated he did not believe it proper so soon after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

In a television interview on CBS Wednesday night, Eisenhower said the subject of the current political boom for Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to Viet Nam, had come up in his talk with Nixon.

Referring to reports that he had urged Lodge to return to this country, Eisenhower added:

"Now both of us agreed that we'd like to see him back here because he's a dynamic, vivacious man, a leader - type. We'd like to see him here discussing political matters. But neither of us, as far as I know, communicated with him. I haven't."

2 Cardinals To Join Pope On Journey

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today that Pope Paul VI would be accompanied on his trip to the Holy Land next month by three key cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church.

They will be in an 11-member official retinue of churchmen from the Vatican traveling with the pontiff Jan. 4-6.

The cardinals are Eugene Tisserant, French-born dean of the College of Cardinals; Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, head of the Vatican Secretariat of State; and Gustavo Testa, secretary of the Congregation for the Oriental Church.

The choice of cardinals indicated the importance the Pope is attaching to his trip to Jordan and Israel, and especially emphasized the prospects of contacts during the trip with Orthodox Church leaders.

Cardinal Cicognani, as secretary of state, is the Pope's highest collaborator at the Vatican. He is something of a combined prime minister and foreign minister.

Both Cardinals Tisserant and Testa are experts on the Orthodox Church.

Stock Mart Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails continued to bolster the stock market which was slightly higher on balance early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The ability of the rails to top their previous 1963 high in the Dow Jones average Wednesday was looked upon by theorists as a "confirmation" of the previous high in the industrials.

Wall street seemed to take lightly President Johnson's budget-cutting drive and the Pentagon's reported plans to shut down a number of shipyards.

The trend was mostly higher for drugs, motors, steels, airlines, farm implements, chemicals and electrical equipments. Aerospace issues continued to sell off a bit in view of the defense budget cuts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 283.9 with industrials up .4, rails up .9 and utilities unchanged.

Applications are to be forwarded to Fissell no later than Monday in order for a student to be eligible for competition.

The contest is open to all Pickaway County schools.

Entry Try Reported

Minnie Newton, 445 E. Main St., told city police today an attempt was made to enter her house last night. Patrolman William Brungs said nothing was missing.

Stock Mart Up Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails continued to bolster the stock market which was slightly higher on balance early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The ability of the rails to top their previous 1963 high in the Dow Jones average Wednesday was looked upon by theorists as a "confirmation" of the previous high in the industrials.

Wall street seemed to take lightly President Johnson's budget-cutting drive and the Pentagon's reported plans to shut down a number of shipyards.

The trend was mostly higher for drugs, motors, steels, airlines, farm implements, chemicals and electrical equipments. Aerospace issues continued to sell off a bit in view of the defense budget cuts.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 283.9 with industrials up .4, rails up .9 and utilities unchanged.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The children escaped from the Haunted House and decided they must go to Santa Land and warn Santa about Nog's cake.

CHAPTER NINE A TRIP ON ICE SKATES

Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo bundled up in their warmest clothes. They hung their skates over their shoulders and started out for Santa Land.

The only thing Jeremy knew was that Santa Land was in the North and there was a river flowing through the Kingdom of Poo and it flowed from the North. The river was frozen over and Jeremy was sure they could skate all the way to Santa Land.

"Do you think you can do it?" he asked Miss Jo.

"Oh yes," she declared, "I can skate around the whole world."

A moment later this didn't seem too likely because as soon as Miss Jo had fastened on her skates and scuttled on the river she went plunk! flat on her back.

"I'll help her," said Sissy. She helped Miss Jo up and held her hand. Miss Jo's feet shot out from under and plunk! both she and Sissy were down.

Jeremy's brow furrowed. How would they ever get there? But Miss Jo jumped up and smiled joyfully. "I just remembered. I can't skate forwards but I can backwards." She turned around and pushed with one foot and then the other and glided smoothly up the frozen river.

Jeremy sighed with relief. He sped after Miss Jo and Sissy followed. For hours and hours they skated but it seemed they hadn't even gotten out of the Kingdom of Poo.

Jeremy's legs ached and Sissy's ankles kept turning on their sides and Miss Jo — sailing a-long backwards — kept tripping over bumps and rides in the ice crashing down so many times she was soon black and blue.

The sun rose high and then started down. Miss Jo rubbed her bruises and said, "If I fall down again I'm just going to stay there!" Sissy said, "Oh, there?"

"Soon," said Jeremy. "It's bound to be soon."

But little did he know how far it was or how many obstacles lay in their path. The first obstacle was around the next bend in the river.

Jeremy was skating ahead of Sissy and Miss Jo pushing out hard with one foot and then the other — push, glide, push, glide, backward look and splash! she was beside them!

Neither Sissy nor Miss Jo could swim and Jeremy couldn't swim too well even by himself. Now he held up both his sisters and kicked his legs which were weighed down with the skates.

Mouth out of the water he gasped, "Hang on. We'll make it" and pushed toward the edge of the ice. But every time he tried to grasp the ice it broke off and the hole got bigger and bigger. Pretty soon Jeremy knew they weren't going to make it.

But it was too late. Sissy shot through the ice and landed beside him.

"Miss Jo!" screamed Jeremy frantically. "Stay away!"

Little Davidson Fells Mighty Giant Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dandy Davidson, the little school from North Carolina, plays basketball in a big way. Coach Charlie Driesell's Wildcats stormed into St. John Arena Wednesday night, shocked a partisan crowd of 12,572 and shattered Ohio State's proud record of 50 straight home floor victories.

Davidson's 95-73 triumph tells a story of decisiveness. The Wildcats thoroughly dominated the contest with the smooth aggressiveness of professionals.

"Anytime you beat Ohio State it's a good night's work," said Driesell after the rout.

"Sure it's nice to break that 50-game string. But we just played to win. Our fast break was beautiful, our shooting was great and all the kids played well. But our defense is what won it for us."

Williamsport, Jackson Own Top Records

Jackson and Williamsport currently have the best records of 10 teams that will be in the Teays Valley sectional of the Central District Class A basketball tournament.

The Wildcats will be putting their 6-1 record on the line tomorrow night when they travel to Williamsport, 5-2, for a crucial Pickaway County League contest.

The two teams may well clash again Dec. 30 in the Westfall Holiday Tournament finals at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds.

The tourney, originally slated Dec. 27-28 at Jackson, was transferred to the Coliseum at the Fairgrounds because of the larger seating capacity and the neutral floor. The dates were changed to Dec. 28 and 30.

JACKSON meets Monroe and Williamsport tangles with Darby on the opening night of the event. The consolation and the finals will be played the second night.

Of the other teams in the district, Lancaster Fenwick has a 2-2 slate, good for third; Darby is 2-4, and Logan Elm and Madison South both have 1-2 records.

Berne Union has won a single game in three outings, Monroe has two wins and six losses while both the Plains of Mt. Sterling and Amanda-Clearcreek are 0-3.

Changes in the sectional teams find Madison South moving from the Columbus sectional to Teays Valley while Pickerington will travel to Granville for tournament play.

So tenacious was that defense that Gary Bradds, Ohio State's big All-America, went 7½ minutes before getting a basket. Bradds wound up with 26 points for scoring honors but 17 of these came in the second half when the Bucks were never in contention.

The Southern Conference Wildcats trailed only 1-0, shot a sizzling 65 per cent in the first half to build up an 11-point advantage at intermission and were never headed.

Their pressing, aggressive defense controlled the ball and the game and their balanced attack found four starters in double figures.

Dick Snyder, a transplanted Ohioan from North Canton, paced the visitors with 25 points. Teammate Terry Holland contributed 22 and highly touted Fred Hetzel 16.

"That's a heck of a team," said Fred Taylor, the Buckeye coach, sadly shaking his head. "We didn't do anything very well, but they had too much physically for us. We never challenged them."

Central State and Defiance with their fifth victories, Mount Union and Youngstown their fourth, and John Carroll with its third rolled along the undefeated path in other Ohio activity Wednesday night.

Central State rallied from a nine-point halftime deficit and knocked Wilberforce (5-1) from the clean-slate ranks, 72-66—perhaps beating the NAIA to the punch. The association could decree forfeits of the five Wilberforce victories because of the questioned eligibility of two freshmen players on the varsity. The pair didn't play Wednesday night, Ted Day hit 27 points for the winners.

Mount Union remained one of five teams unbeaten in Ohio Conference play with a skin-of-its-teeth conquest of Oberlin, 57-55. The Raiders tied it on John Dickerson's 25-foot goal with seven seconds left and swamped the Yeomen 8-0 in overtime for a 65-57 decision.

Ohio Wesleyan made its OC record 2-0 by trimming Marietta 66-50 behind Barry Clemens' 32 markers.

Defiance breezed past Tri-State (Ind.) 93-77, Youngstown routed Gannon (Pa.) 74-44, and John Carroll clipped Thiel (Pa.) 83-62 in a Presidents' Conference tiff.

Kent State trimmed Baldwin-Wallace 88-72, Findlay outdid Ohio Northern 113-101, Wilmington won its all-Quaker duel with Earlham (Ind.) 119-88, and Steubenville lost to St. Bonaventure 113-86, roundout out the card.

In off-court news, Wittenberg learned that Little All-America Al Thrasher, his leg hurt Tuesday night in the Denison game, probably will miss the Tigers' next start at Muskingum next Tuesday but should be ready thereafter. X-rays allayed fears of a possible severe injury.

Tiger Matmen Point Toward Second Win

The Circleville grapplers will be gunning for their second win of the season tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. when they travel to Whitehall.

The Tiger wrestlers won their first meet from Columbus Central, 25-18. The Red and Black won seven of 11 matches in their first outing.

The first home match for Circleville comes Dec. 20 at 4 p. m. when they host Grove City in the CHS gymnasium.

The roster for tomorrow's meet is only partially set, according to Dave LaBounty, grappling mentor.

AT THE 103-pound weight, Craig Benzenberg and John Butts will have a wrestle-off to-night to determine who will go. Glenn Easterday and Larry Betts will be battling for a berth in the 138-pound class while Bill Diehl and Red Rickey will be pitted against each other to-night to determine who will be the 145-pound contestant.

Mike Fyffe is sure of a spot in the 112-pound class, Charlie Martin will go in the 120-pound class, Junior Tootle is set in the 127-pound class, Tommy McDonald will go in the 133-pound class and Mike Wells in the 165 class.

Currently the only other grappler assured of starting is Howard Fletcher in the heavyweight division.

Joe List will compete in the 154-pound class if he can get his weight down, according to LaBounty.

Circleville will again be forced to forfeit the 175-pound class. Duke Fyffe is still out with an injured knee while Jeff Ankrom, recently out for the team, is still over weight.

Dickie Moore, who recently retired from the Montreal Canadiens, holds the National Hockey League record for most points in one season with 96.

Boston University's backfield speed lies with Bob Horton, a 220-pound fullback from White Plains, N. Y. He runs 100 yards in 9.9 seconds.

Celt Defense Chalks Up Another Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Add another under-100 defensive performance to Boston's total, and, of course, another victory.

The Celtics played their 21st game Wednesday night, and for the ninth time this season held the opposition under 100. St. Louis was the latest victim, 104-95, as the Hawks dropped behind Los Angeles into second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

Defense is the reason the Celtics have an amazing 19-2 record. In the two games they lost—both to Cincinnati—the Royals went over the 100-mark. Boston, meanwhile, has been held under 100 only once, by Cincinnati. The Celtics, however, won that one.

The Celtics' latest triumph—their ninth straight at home—kept them 5½ games in front of Cincinnati in the Eastern Division race. The Royals walloped Detroit 127-107. In the only other game scheduled, Philadelphia defeated New York 113-103.

Dick Donovan and Jack Kralich both turned in three shutouts for the Cleveland Indians last season.

Lima Coed Named To Be 'Miss Navy'

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The hometown sweetheart of the Naval Academy's football captain has been named Miss Navy for the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl game between the Middles and Texas.

She's Kathleen Ann Quinn of Lima, Ohio. The blue-eyed blonde has dated Middle center-captain Tom Lynch since their high school days at Lima Central Catholic.

A senior at Rosary College in River Forest, Ill., Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Quinn.

Lynch's brother, James, will be Miss Quinn's escort at the game and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lynch Jr. will be her chaperons.

Jolly Roger Seeks Grid Knowledge

NEW YORK (AP)—Now hear this from Navy's Roger Staubach:
"I have a lot to learn about passing. I figure I'll learn a lot more about football in the next year and a half. I'm going to work hard next season. I hope we can improve on this season's record."
That comforting news for Navy's opponents came from the All-America quarterback Wednesday night when he accepted the Heisman Trophy award as the top football player in the country.
Staubach led Navy to a 9-1 record, a No. 2 national ranking and a spot in the Cotton Bowl against top-ranked Texas.

Miami Selects Most Valuable Grid Stars

Deer Hunting Starts Today

Supply of Game Is Called Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Shotgun deer hunters going into the fields and woods today and Friday for the two-day season should find a good deer population, but with pockets of abundance and scarcity as usual.

Accidental deer kill in recent months and other signs indicate a well-distributed population.

Deer may be taken by shotgun loaded with rifled slugs only. Rifles are not permitted. Hunters must have a deer permit in addition to the regular hunting license. Hours of hunting during the gun season are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for both gun and bow hunters.

Hunters can take one deer of any age or either sex which must be checked before 10 p.m. Friday if taken with a gun or within 24 hours if bow killed. Archery deer hunting will continue through Dec. 31.

Dr. William J. Green, Delaware dentist, hunts deer with a bow and he has been afield several times this year. No luck.

Then on Nov. 25, his wife, Nancy, was returning from a trip uptown. When she was within two blocks of their home on Pennsylvania Avenue, her car struck and killed a 150-pound buck.

"Just goes to prove the auto is more deadly than the bow," said Richard N. Reece, Delaware County game protector.

Warfield Is Signed By Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns President Art Modell, faced by stiff checkbook competition from the American Football League, made it clear in signing Paul Warfield that he will continue to follow a policy of not engaging in wild bidding. Modell wouldn't disclose terms of the contract signed by the Ohio State halfback Wednesday, but he said it was considerably lower than what had been offered by the Buffalo Bills of the AFL.

Reports were that the contract provided $15,000 a year for two years plus a $5,000 bonus for Warfield, who will wind up as either a flanker or a defensive back—assuming he makes the grade in the pro game.

While the Browns were corraling Warfield, their No. 1 draft choice, Don Shackleford, their fourth-round choice, moved into the AFL camp at Denver. Modell said the Browns dropped out of the competition for Shackleford, a 250-pound tackle from the University of Pacific, when the bidding "became ridiculous."

School colors and nickname for the new Westfall High School, slated to be ready for occupancy by next fall, have officially been announced by the board of education.

Before he became a Yankee, Babe Ruth belted only 49 home runs in six years with the Boston Red Sox.

'Old 98' Harmon Hits New Level of Renown

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Tom Harmon has been widely known for more than 20 years, first as an All-America football player and then as a radio and television sportscaster.

Now he is Tom Harmon Enterprises, Inc.
"Harmon of Michigan," which was all you had to say to identify him in the years 1939-40-41, has reached another level of renown.

Next thing we know they'll be selling stock in "Old 98."

Ninety-eight—that was his jersey number and he wasn't at all old—earned All-America, the Heisman and Maxwell trophies and all-Big Ten Conference honors as one of the most exciting ball carriers in football.

Harmon was one of the first name athletes to carve out a successful career in sports broadcasting.

He began his airways career on a sort of frat house-to-house hookup on the campus when he was in school at Michigan.

Today Harmon is nationwide and comes in a package deal—a tidy little package with a $1-million price tag.

He conceived the package, hired his own crew, acquired his own equipment, went out and got his own sponsors and sold the works to the American Broadcasting Company.

Harmon answers to but one boss, himself. Well, possibly another, his picture-pretty wife, the former Elyse Knox of the movies.

Tommy came from a family of most modest means in Gary, Ind. He worked his way through college. His story is wonderfully pleasant.

Harmon's feats on the gridiron were fascinating.
Against a powerful Iowa team on 1939, Michigan won, 28-7, and Harmon scored all 28 points.

Against California at Berkeley in 1940 Tommy took the opening kickoff and ran it back 98 yards and scored three more touchdowns before Coach Fritz Crisler yanked him in the 41-0 rout.

Michigan lost only four games in Tommy's three years on the varsity.

Harmon, pointing for the career he adopted, majored in English and speech at Ann Arbor. In the off season he worked in a steel rolling mill in Gary.

"The university got me the job—and that was all the university did for me," Tom declares, scolding rumors of fabulous enrichments tendered the school's star players.

Harmon's first real broadcasting job was in Detroit. Then came World War II.

Tom enlisted, won his wings and spent five years in the Air Corps in the North Africa and China campaigns.

Harmon emerged from service a captain and winner of the Purple Heart and Silver Star decorations—honors you have to learn from friends, not Harmon.

After two years with the Los Angeles Rams' football team, Tommy launched his broadcasting career.

California Grid Coach Quits Post

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Marv Levy, the young Phi Beta Kappa key holder who inherited a murderous schedule and an average set of players as California football coach, resigned suddenly Wednesday.

Levy, a surprise appointment in 1960 to succeed Pete Elliott, was brought to Cal after a 14-6 record at New Mexico. He was regarded as a good image for the state university trying to field teams made up of students bucking stringent grade and entrance requirements.

He leaves with an 8-29-3 record in four seasons—and the onus of having a 1-3 mark against arch-rival Stanford.

Deer Hunting Starts Today

Supply of Game Is Called Good

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Shotgun deer hunters going into the fields and woods today and Friday for the two-day season should find a good deer population, but with pockets of abundance and scarcity as usual.

Accidental deer kill in recent months and other signs indicate a well-distributed population.

Deer may be taken by shotgun loaded with rifled slugs only, rifles are not permitted. Hunters must have a deer permit in addition to the regular hunting license. Hours of hunting during the gun season are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for both gun and bow hunters.

Hunters can take one deer of any age or either sex which must be checked before 10 p.m. Friday if taken with a gun or within 24 hours if bow killed. Archery deer hunting will continue through Dec. 31.

Dr. William J. Green, Delaware dentist, hunts deer with a bow and he has been afield several times this year. No luck.

Then on Nov. 25, his wife, Nancy, was returning from a trip uptown. When she was with in two blocks of their home on Pennsylvania Avenue, her car struck and killed a 150-pound buck.

"Just goes to prove the auto is more deadly than the bow," said Richard N. Reece, Delaware County game protector.

Warfield Is Signed By Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns President Art Modell, faced by stiff checkbook competition from the American Football League, made it clear in signing Paul Warfield that he will continue to follow a policy of not engaging in wild bidding. Modell wouldn't disclose terms of the contract signed by the Ohio State halfback Wednesday, but he said it was considerably lower than what had been offered by the Buffalo Bills of the AFL.

Reports were that the contract provided $15,000 a year for two years plus a $5,000 bonus for Warfield, who will wind up as either a flanker or a defensive back—assuming he makes the grade in the pro game.

While the Browns were corraling Warfield, their No. 1 draft choice, Don Shackleford, their fourth-round choice, moved into the AFL camp at Denver. Modell said the Browns dropped out of the competition for Shackleford, a 250-pound tackle from the University of Pacific, when the bidding "became ridiculous."

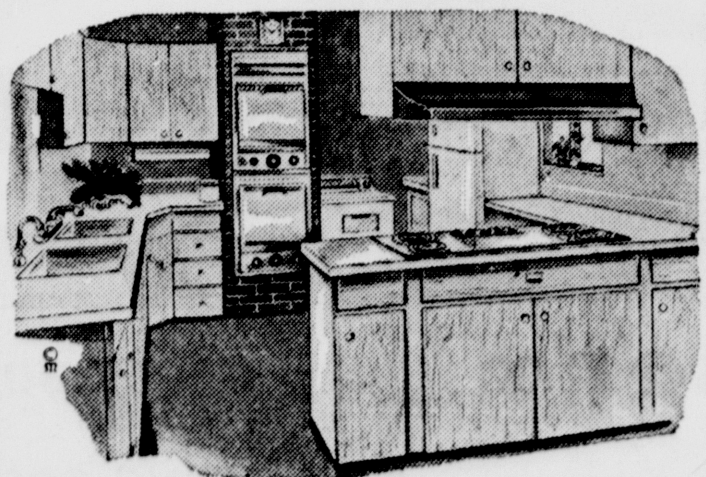

Westfall Colors Are Scarlet, Gray
School colors and nickname for the new Westfall High School, slated to be ready for occupancy by next fall, have officially been announced by the board of education.

The colors will be Scarlet and Gray. Athletic teams at the school will be called the Mustangs.

Before he became a Yankee, Babe Ruth belted only 49 home runs in six years with the Boston Red Sox.

'Old 98' Harmon Hits New Level of Renown

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Tom Harmon has been widely known for more than 20 years, first as an All-America football player and then as a radio and television sportscaster.

Now he is Tom Harmon Enterprises, Inc.

"Harmon of Michigan," which was all you had to say to identify him in the years 1939-40-41, has reached another level of renown.

Next thing we know they'll be selling stock in "Old 98."

Ninety-eight — that was his jersey number and he wasn't at all old—earned All-America, the Heisman and Maxwell trophies and all-Big Ten Conference honors as one of the most exciting ball carriers in football.

Harmon was one of the first name athletes to carve out a successful career in sports broadcasting.

He began his airways career on a sort of frat house-to-house hookup on the campus when he was in school at Michigan.

Today Harmon is nationwide and comes in a package deal—a tidy little package with a $1-million price tag.

He conceived the package, hired his own crew, acquired his own equipment, went out and got his own sponsors and sold the works to the American Broadcasting Company.

Harmon answers to but one boss, himself. Well, possibly another, his picture-pretty wife, the former Elyse Knox of the movies.

Tommy came from a family of most modest means in Gary, Ind. He worked his way through college. His story is wonderfully pleasant.

Harmon's feats on the gridiron were fascinating.

Against a powerful Iowa team in 1939, Michigan won, 28-7, and Harmon scored all 28 points.

Against California at Berkeley in 1940 Tommy took the opening kickoff and ran it back 98 yards and scored three more touchdowns before Coach Fritz Crisler yanked him in the 41-0 rout.

Michigan lost only four games in Tommy's three years on the varsity.

Harmon, pointing for the career he adopted, majored in English and speech at Ann Arbor. In the off season he worked in a steel rolling mill in Gary.

"The university got me the job—and that was all the university did for me," Tom declares, scorning rumors of fabulous enrichments tendered the school's star players.

Harmon's first real broadcasting job was in Detroit. Then came World War II.

Tom enlisted, won his wings and spent five years in the Air Corps in the North Africa and China campaigns.

Harmon emerged from service a captain and winner of the Purple Heart and Silver Star decorations—honors you have to learn from friends, not Harmon.

After two years with the Los Angeles Rams' football team, Tommy launched his broadcasting career.

Jolly Roger Seeks Grid Knowledge

NEW YORK (AP)—Now hear this from Navy's Roger Staubach:

"I have a lot to learn about passing. I figure I'll learn a lot more about football in the next year and a half. I'm going to work hard next season. I hope we can improve on this season's record."

That comforting news for Navy's opponents came from the All-America quarterback Wednesday night when he accepted the Heisman Trophy award as the top football player in the country.

Staubach led Navy to a 9-1 record, a No. 2 national ranking and a spot in the Cotton Bowl against top-ranked Texas.

Miami Selects Most Valuable Grid Stars

OFORD, Ohio (AP)—Ernie Kellermann and Dave Mallory have been named the most valuable players on the 1963 Miami University football team.

Kellermann, a junior quarterback from Maple Heights, holds the school record of 1,253 yards total offense, while Mallory also receive a trophy as most efficient lineman at Wednesday night's sports dinner. He is a senior from Hillsboro.

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

The Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class members and their families will meet 7 p. m. Sunday at the church to decorate for Christmas.

Refreshments will be served by Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Rev. and Mrs. William Sheretz, Mrs. Malcolm Rathburn, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Shreve Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout and Miss Helen Irwin.

The following changes have been made in the Teays Valley home basketball schedule: Lakewood, a makeup game, will be played Dec. 21 here. Amanda - Clearcreek has been changed from Feb. 1 to Jan. 3, here and on Feb. 1 Williamsport will play here.

A semi-formal Christmas Dance is being sponsored by the Senior Class of Teays Valley High School on Dec. 20 at the school cafeteria.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Dec. 6—moved Roy Miller of Ashville to Doctor's Hospital following a heart attack; Dec. 8—moved Mrs. James King, 2228 Hall St., Ashville, to Mercy Hospital following an auto accident on the Circleville - Lockbourne Road east of Ashville.

An evening of entertainment was enjoyed Monday evening by the Ashville Harrison Volunteer Firemen and their wives when they were served a steak dinner at the K of P Hall. Serving was handled by ladies of the lodge. Fred Rice, State Fire Marshall, was guest speaker for the evening.

The Ashville Kiwanis Club met Dec. 3 at the Bastians Coffee Shop for its regular weekly meeting.

The program was a continuation of the meeting held two weeks previous entitled, "What's Going On?" It provided for a lively discussion centered around activities of the club for the past year.

Robert Vince was initiated as a new member. The date for the newspaper sale was set for Dec. 17.

Scheduled speaker for the week of Dec. 10 will be a representative from the Goodwill Industries in Columbus.

It was announced that the Presidents Party will be held Jan. 7 at the new Columbus Plaza and that the clubs annual fruit cake sale now is in progress.

Teays Valley High School music department, under the direction of Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla, will present a Christmas Concert Sunday in the school auditorium.

The concert, beginning at 2 p. m., will feature the concert band and chorus. Special guests will be members of the Logan Elm High School Chorus. Highlighting the concert will be the famed Hallelujah Chorus sung by both groups.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department answered two calls Monday. The first, at 8:39 a. m., came after a truck owned by John Stings of Martins Ferry and driven by Harold McMahon caught fire when a bearing burned out in the right rear wheel. Loss as set at $200.

The second was at 11:14 p. m. to the residence of William Pontious, Route 3, Circleville, here the kitchen floor and floor joists became ignited due to a faulty chimney. Loss was reported at $50.

The Ashville Women's Civic Club held its annual Christmas program and tea Thursday evening in the Ashville Methodist Church basement. Guests attending were Mrs. Robert Vince, Mrs. Lubert Smarr, Mrs. William Sheretz and Marilyn Lee who was guest speaker for the evening.

The program opened with Christmas devotions by Mrs. William Snyder. The group sang several Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Rolland Featheringham on the piano.

Mrs. Stanley Bowers, program, chairman, introduced Miss Lee, Home Demonstration Agent for South-Central Rural Electric, who showed colored slides and spoke on exterior home decorating for Christmas. She brought along several Christmas arrangements for inside decorating, using strings of lights or a single lightbulb. With these were a pamphlet showing instructions and materials needed for making the decorations. A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Art Deal Jr., club president. Main items of business were approving the yearly budget, reporting on "Care" boxes, sale of pecans and appointing a committee for the Christmas Home Decorating contest that is sponsored jointly with the Ashville Community Club.

Appointed to the committee were Mrs. Joe Hedges and Mrs. William Wharton, co-chairmen, Mrs. Charles Helser and Mrs. Robert Riley.

The group sang several carols and then was served Christmas cookies, mints, nuts, coffee and tea from a decorated tea table covered with a red cloth and centered with a Christmas arrangement, flanked on each side with burning tapers. Presiding at the table was Mrs. Deal and

Mrs. Bowers. Those responsible for the refreshments were Mrs. Stella Morrison, Mrs. Alfred Axe, Mrs. Stanley Bowers, Mrs. Warren Bastian Mrs. Robert Knode and Mrs. Thomas Rife.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Dec. 12, the 346th day of 1963. There are 19 days left in the year.

On this date in 1906, Oscar Solomon Strauss of New York was appointed secretary of commerce and labor during President Theodore Roosevelt's second administration. He was the first Jewish Cabinet member.

On this date: In 1870, Joseph Rainey of South Carolina was sworn in as the first Negro member of the House of Representatives.

In 1895, the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional a law passed a year earlier which levied taxes on incomes of more than $4,000.

In 1937, Japanese bombing planes sank the U.S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze River.

Ten years ago—Britain was threatened with the first nationwide railroad strike in 27 years.

Five years ago—The world's largest food chain—the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.—announced that its stock would be made available for purchase by the public for the first time.

One year ago—Premier Khrushchev said Russia would resist pressure by those in the Communist world who wanted to risk thermonuclear war with the West.

VICTORY KISS—Corinne Morrison, 16, plants a victory kiss on her father, DeLesseps, Louisiana gubernatorial candidate and former U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States, in New Orleans, as he squares off for a Democratic gubernatorial runoff with John J. McKeithen.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr.
Phone YU 3-6111

The Ashville Methodist Fellowship Class members and their families will meet 7 p. m. Sunday at the church to decorate for Christmas.

Refreshments will be served by Mr. and Mrs. William Snyder, Rev. and Mrs. William Sheretz, Mrs. Malcolm Rathburn, Mr. and Mrs. Wade Shreve Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stout and Miss Helen Irwin.

The following changes have been made in the Teays Valley home basketball schedule: Lakewood, a makeup game, will be played Dec. 21 here. Amanda - Clearcreek has been changed from Feb. 1 to Jan. 3, here and on Feb. 1 Williamsport will play here.

A semi-formal Christmas Dance is being sponsored by the Senior Class of Teays Valley High School on Dec. 20 at the school cafeteria.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Dec. 6—moved Roy Miller of Ashville to Doctor's Hospital following a heart attack; Dec. 8—moved Mrs. James King, 2228 Hall St., Ashville, to Mercy Hospital following an auto accident on the Circleville - Lockbourne Road east of Ashville.

An evening of entertainment was enjoyed Monday evening by the Ashville Harrison Volunteer Firemen and their wives when they were served a steak dinner at the K of P Hall. Serving was handled by ladies of the lodge. Fred Rice, State Fire Marshall, was guest speaker for the evening.

The Ashville Kiwanis Club met Dec. 3 at the Bastians Coffee Shop for its regular weekly meeting.

The program was a continuation of the meeting held two weeks previous entitled, "What's Going On?" It provided for a lively discussion centered around activities of the club for the past year.

Robert Vince was initiated as a new member. The date for the newspaper sale was set for Dec. 17.

Scheduled speaker for the week of Dec. 10 will be a representative from the Goodwill Industries in Columbus.

It was announced that the Presidents Party will be held Jan. 7 at the new Columbus Plaza and that the clubs annual fruit cake sale now is in progress.

Teays Valley High School music department, under the direction of Miss Mary Jo Gaskalla, will present a Christmas Concert Sunday in the school auditorium.

The concert, beginning at 2 p. m., will feature the concert band and chorus. Special guests will be members of the Logan Elm High School Chorus. Highlighting the concert will be the famed Hallelujah Chorus sung by both groups.

The Ashville-Harrison Volunteer Fire Department answered two calls Monday. The first, at 8:39 a. m., came after a truck owned by John Stings of Martins Ferry and driven by Harold McMahon caught fire when a bearing burned out in the right rear wheel. Loss as set at $200.

The second was at 11:14 p. m. to the residence of William Pontious, Route 3, Circleville, here the kitchen floor and floor joists became ignited due to a faulty chimney. Loss was reported at $50.

The Ashville Women's Civic Club held its annual Christmas program and tea Thursday evening in the Ashville Methodist Church basement. Guests attending were Mrs. Robert Vince, Mrs. Lubert Smarr, Mrs. William Sheretz and Marilyn Lee who was guest speaker for the evening.

The program opened with Christmas devotions by Mrs. William Snyder. The group sang several Christmas carols, accompanied by Mrs. Rolland Featheringham on the piano.

Mrs. Stanley Bowers, program, chairman, introduced Miss Lee, Home Demonstration Agent for South - Central Rural Electric, who showed colored slides and spoke on exterior home decorating for Christmas. She brought along several Christmas arrangements for inside decorating, using strings of lights or a single lightbulb. With these were a pamphlet showing instructions and materials needed for making the decorations.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Art Deal Jr., club president. Main items of business were approving the yearly budget, reporting on "Care" boxes, sale of pecans and appointing a committee for the Christmas Home Decorating contest that is sponsored jointly with the Ashville Community Club.

Appointed to the committee were Mrs. Joe Hedges and Mrs. William Wharton, co-chairmen, Mrs. Charles Helser and Mrs. Robert Riley.

The group sang several carols and then was served Christmas cookies, mints, nuts, coffee and tea from a decorated tea table covered with a red cloth and centered with a Christmas arrangement, flanked on each side with burning tapers. Presiding at the table was Mrs. Deal and

Mrs. Bowers. Those responsible for the refreshments were Mrs. Stella Morrison, Mrs. Alfred Axe, Mrs. Stanley Bowers, Mrs. Warren Bastian, Mrs. Robert Knode and Mrs. Thomas Rife.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Dec. 12, the 346th day of 1963. There are 19 days left in the year.

On this date in 1906, Oscar Solomon Strauss of New York was appointed secretary of commerce and labor during President Theodore Roosevelt's second administration. He was the first Jewish Cabinet member.

On this date: In 1870, Joseph Rainey of South Carolina was sworn in as the first Negro member of the House of Representatives.

In 1895, the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional a law passed a year earlier which levied taxes on incomes of more than $4,000.

In 1937, Japanese bombing planes sank the U.S. gunboat Panay in the Yangtze River.

Ten years ago—Britain was threatened with the first nationwide railroad strike in 27 years.

Five years ago—The world's largest food chain—the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.—announced that its stock would be made available for purchase by the public for the first time.

One year ago—Premier Khrushchev said Russia would resist pressure by those in the Communist world who wanted to risk thermonuclear war with the West.

VICTORY KISS—Corinne Morrison, 16, plants a victory kiss on her father, DeLeseps, Louisiana gubernatorial candidate and former U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States, in New Orleans, as he squares off for a Democratic gubernatorial runoff with John J. McKeithen.
